WILSON TO WAIT REASONABLE TIME

Failure of Foreign Affairs Committee to Act Will Cause Rules Committee to Precipitate Issue in House—Democratic Majority Not With President.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, March 2.—President Wilson will wait a reasonable time for congress to act on the McInerney resolution warning Americans not to take passage on armed merchant vessels. Then, if the foreign affairs committee fails to report the resolution, either favorably or adversely, the executive will demand that the rules committee force the issue by itself reporting some such legislation accompanied with a rule that will force immediate consideration.

This was the indication gleaned today following a phone conversation between the president and chairman Flood, of the house foreign affairs committee, and a half hour's talk which the president had with representative Finis J. Carr, of Tennessee, third member of the rules committee and the most popular parliamentarian in the house. The house member made it very plain to the president that the majority of the representatives did not want to be "rushed off their feet." They desired thoroughly to canvass the entire situation and the president was told that if opportunity was offered to do this the chances of his receiving the exact sort of special resolution that he is seeking will be materially increased.

The issue now is squarely joined. The White House will be satisfied with nothing less than a line-up on the McInerney resolution or one equally as strong. Resolutions carrying perfunctory endorsement or even a straight out declaration that the handling of the international situation is admirable, will not be accepted. The president and Secretary Lansing have decided that their hands are tied in any further negotiation with Germany over the submarine issue until congress has disposed of the warning suggestions which the administration flatly insists seriously is menacing American prestige at Berlin, Vienna and Constantinople. The congressional leaders realize this and are prepared to act accordingly.

The tendency at the capital today was all for delay. The house foreign affairs committee postponed its proposed meeting from 10:30 to 3 o'clock with a strong prospect of a further delay because majority leader Kitchin had asked that it take no action until he could confer with chairman Flood. It was certain that the chasm between the White House and the majority in the lower branch of congress was so wide that someone will have to back down.

The situation could hardly be more serious. A canvass of the membership of the House shows that at the present time the president cannot count on a majority of the membership. The hoped for Republican support is absent. At a secret conference of the Republican members of the foreign affairs committee today it was decided that the sentiment was opposed to any report of any resolution that would deal directly with the present situation. As far as the Republicans are willing to go would be to adopt a resolution which would simply reaffirm that the president had power to exhaust diplomatic methods before congress could be called on to act. This would mean nothing, but would rather tend to further confuse the issue.

The Democrats are so badly divided that the least word will be examined by the jail physician as the police believe that Boyd is slightly demented. Boyd is a well built negro of fine appearance and fairly well dressed.

STONE REITERATES HIS POSITION

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, March 2.—The submarine situation was injected into the proceedings of the senate today despite a general agreement among the members to refrain from action. Soon after the morning business had been transacted Senator William J. Stone, chairman of the foreign relations committee, secured recognition and began a discussion of the subject. With the Gore resolution as his text, although it was not then before the senate, the order of business being the Shields dam bill, the senator began a lengthy discussion of the entire submarine question. He read his letter to President Wilson and the latter's reply which had precipitated the entire controversy.

"I can't but believe that a belligerent ship heavily armed, no matter if for defensive purposes, carrying munitions of war, is simply a ship of war," declared Senator Stone.

Senator Stone urged that an agreement be entered into for bringing the Gore resolution before the senate at noon tomorrow.

BOYD WALKED FROM LAKE PLACID

Only Way to Make His Mind Work Right is to Walk 50 Miles—He Will be Examined as to His Sanity.

Henry Boyd, colored, the man who has to walk fifty miles before he begins to feel like himself, was arraigned this morning before Recorder Lang in recorder's court on a charge of being a suspicious person and was sentenced by the court to ten days in the county jail. Boyd was picked up on Tuesday morning by Policeman Dugan and said that he came here from Lake Placid in the Adirondack Mountains. He was taken to police headquarters and questioned by Chief Wood. It was some time before the chief got Boyd to talk, but finally Boyd after asking if he could be furnished with a spiritual adviser told of his wanderings.

According to Boyd's story he had been working at Lake Placid and a wood pile burned. He said that when the children of the village met him on the street they called after him that he was the man who burned the wood pile. He said it preyed on his mind and he finally left and walked twenty-eight miles to another hamlet and then as he was not tired he walked another twenty-eight miles to another hamlet. After he had walked over fifty miles he said he began to feel more like himself.

Before resuming his journey he received a check from Lake Placid from his employer he said which he cashed in a saloon. The bartender gave him a "five dollar treasury note" which had a red signature on it. He said that the note did not look right to him and he did another mental thing. Instead of reporting it to the authorities there he walked to Albany and gave the note to the clerk at the capital.

Just what became of the note he did not say, but anyway he walked down the river to Hyde Park. He did not stop at Poughkeepsie as he had worked there at one time. From Hyde Park he finally walked to Kingston.

On Monday Boyd was sent to jail for ten days and while there will be examined by the jail physician as the police believe that Boyd is slightly demented.

Boyd is a well built negro of fine appearance and fairly well dressed.

A GETTYSBURG RELIC.

Gavel Presented to P. O. S. A. Came From Battlefield.

The gavel given the Washington Camp, P. O. S. of A., Wednesday night by Ladies' Auxiliary has an interesting history. Its head was secured from wood obtained from one of the trees in Reynolds's Grove at Gettysburg, so named because in the first day of fighting in that famous battle the gallant commander, Major General Reynolds, of the Union army, was shot in that locality by a sharpshooter while seeking a position of advantage. In shaping the gavel head, a bullet was discovered lying deep within the wood—convincing proof of the origin of the material from which it was made. The wood from which the handle of the gavel was made, was obtained from one of the trees on Round Top. The gavel was bought by Mrs. E. J. Nichols, wife of one of the surviving members of the G. A. R., and vice president of the local camp of the P. O. S. of A., on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg.

Mahar's Body Not Recovered.

The body of Dennis Mahar of Rhinbeck, who walked off the dock near the Transport ferry slip on Saturday night has not yet been recovered. It is presumed that the strong current that was running in the creek at the time carried the body down toward the mouth of the creek and that it is lodged under the ice gorge that blocks the creek mouth. It is not likely that the body will be recovered until warmer weather sets in and the ice gorge is broken up.

WOLVEN SALE TIED UP BY INJUNCTION

Purchasers Disagree Over Terms Among Themselves and Baker Secures an Injunction Restraining Sale to Forman or Anyone but Baker.

Failure to agree on certain matters pertaining to the sale of the William Wolven store property at No. 323 Wall street, with the stock and fixtures, has resulted in an action in the supreme court brought by Max Baker against the Shatemuck Realty Company, Frank Forman and Mrs. Ella Wolven England. The dispute over the business deal is between Baker, Forman and the Shatemuck Realty Company.

On Baker's application, Judge Jenkins has granted an order which is returnable at Saturday's special term of the supreme court, requiring the defendants to show cause why the Shatemuck Realty Company should not be restrained from assigning or transferring to anyone except Baker a contract of sale for the property, and restraining Mrs. England from executing and delivering a deed for the property to anyone except Baker pending the hearing and determination of the suit, upon such terms and payments of money as may fully protect her. Baker demands $25,000 damages from Forman and the Shatemuck Realty Company, but does not ask a money judgment or costs against Mrs. England.

Baker Says He Wanted to Buy.

In his complaint, Baker alleges that on January 29 he engaged the Shatemuck Realty Company as agent to negotiate for the purchase of the store, stock and fixtures which had been used by the late William Wolven in the conduct of his dry goods business, and that the Realty Company entered into such negotiations with Mrs. England for the purchase of the store, stock and fixtures for $33,500. Of that amount $3,000 was to be paid at the execution of the contract of sale, which contract was to provide for the payment of $10,500 on March first, when a bill of sale would be given for the stock and fixtures, and the payment of the balance of $20,000 on March 10, when a deed would be executed by Mrs. England.

Forman to Furnish Part of Money.

On February 17, according to the complaint, Frank Forman proposed that in case of the execution of the contract of sale, he would advance $8,000 to Baker on a second mortgage, to be given after Baker had given a first mortgage for $12,000 to other parties. This loan was to be obtained and secured by the Shatemuck Realty Company. It was to be payable in six years, with interest at five per cent per annum, and Baker was to have the right to pay the entire amount of the principal at any time before it was due. Another allegation of Baker is that he was to enter into an agreement with Forman not to use the premises as a ladies' cloak and suit store for a period of ten years. Baker claims he accepted this proposition and Forman advanced $3,000 on account of the $8,000. This plan, he states, was agreed to also by Mrs. England, and Baker agreed to pay the Shatemuck Realty Company $500 for its brokerage services and commissions.

The Deal at a Standstill.

According to Baker's complaint, the Shatemuck Realty Company holds the contract of sale and refuses to deliver or assign it to Baker, although he alleges he is ready to pay the company its $500 commission; is ready to repay Frank Forman the $3,000 advanced by him, and although he has offered to complete the contract of sale and has offered to pay the full amount provided for in such contract at once. He alleges also that Frank Forman has refused to accept the return of the $3,000 or to carry out his agreement, and that the Shatemuck Realty Company wishes to transfer the contract of sale to Forman.

What Baker Wants Besides Damages.

The relief demanded by Baker is that he be adjudged the owner and real party in interest in and to the contract of sale; that the Shatemuck Realty Company be directed to assign the contract of sale to him on the payment of $500 for its commissions and services, and upon payment of the further sum of $3,000 to Forman; that Forman be directed to accept the return and repayment of the $3,000, and further that he be directed to comply with the terms of his agreement by advancing $8,000 to Baker on receipt of a second mortgage, as provided for in the contract. He demands $25,000 damages from the Shatemuck Realty Company and Forman; that Mrs. England be restrained from executing any deed, and that all the defendants be restrained from delivering any contracts of sale or deeds to anyone except Baker. City Judge William D. Brininger, Jr., represents Baker.

Mrs. England's Position.

Mrs. England's position is that there were five persons who were negotiating for the sale of the store building and stock of goods when the Shatemuck Realty Company made its proposition. Judge Clearwater represented Mrs. Wolven. All of the individuals and corporations who were seeking to make the purchase from Mrs. Wolven made propositions; some of them wanted

HELEN MORTON BAYLY, BIRTH OF MOTHER SUPERIOR.

ROMANTIC MADCAP HEIRESS FINDS ART WORK A SOLACE.

Mrs. Helen Morton Bayly and Bust of the Mother Superior of a Convent Where She Attended School, Modelled from Memory.

Chicago, March 2.—Mrs. Helen Morton Bayly, madcap daughter of Mark Morton of Wheaton, Ill., and granddaughter of Levi P. Morton, formerly vice president of the United States and governor of New York, has been declared legally sane and is seeking solace in sculpture in a little studio here.

Helen Morton leaped into the limelight of publicity nearly two years ago by a sudden disappearance from her mother's home in Lake Forest. An elopement was rumored, but the spirited young woman, whose interest was then centered in blooded horses, insisted she was on her way to visit a school girl friend who was ill at her home in Elmhurst, N. Y.

Miss Morton never reached Elmhurst, but was found at Washington. Her sick friend proved to be Roger Bayly, a young Virginian, who conducted a large stock farm near Washington. He was ill in a sanitarium in the capital and Miss Morton visited him there.

Miss Morton defied parental authority, refused to return to Chicago and visited friends at Delaplane, Va., where the Bayly stock farm is located and where young Bayly had gone to recuperate.

On June 3, 1914, she returned to Wheaton under an "armed truce" with her father and was sent to the Bellevue place sanitarium at Batavia, Ill., to take the "flower" cure for jaded nerves. On June 16, she quietly left the Bellevue sanitarium to go to the home of Colonel George Fabyan in Geneva, where she was married to Roger Bayly.

Early in July, after a report had been circulated that Mrs. Bayly had attempted to commit suicide, Bayly secretly filed a petition asking that his young wife be adjudged insane and she was so adjudged by a jury, and Colonel Fabyan was appointed conservator of her person and estate. Bayly, it was reported, had announced his intention of asking for an annulment of the marriage.

To buy the stock without the building, and some of them wanted to buy the building without the stock. Judge Clearwater told them they would sell them both together or not at all.

Last Wednesday the Shatemuck Company made an offer, and Judge Clearwater stated what he would take for the stock and building provided the deal was closed that afternoon. The Shatemuck Company stated it would accept the proposition. The contract of sale was drawn up and signed immediately and the Shatemuck Realty Company paid $3,000 earnest money on the contract. Last Friday they paid the balance of the money on the stock and took a bill of sale for the stock.

Purchaser Not Disclosed to Her.

After the contract was signed, Judge Clearwater asked Messrs. Schultz and Byrnes, representing the Shatemuck Realty Company, if they cared to disclose the name of the purchaser and they said they did not. The company has never disclosed the name of the purchaser to Mrs. England or Judge Clearwater, and neither of them heard of Baker in connection with it and their supposition was that it had been sold on account of entirely different parties.

Ready to Fulfill Her Contract.

Mrs. England is ready to carry out her part of the contract and expects to do so, and she expects the Shatemuck Realty Company to carry out its contract with her.

Others Will Also Fight.

Van Ethen & Cook are counsel for the Shatemuck Realty Company and Frank Forman, and they, too, will oppose the application for the injunction at Saturday's special term of the supreme court.

Albany Avenue Baptist Church.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church will meet at the parsonage, 193 Clinton avenue, on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. All ladies of the church and congregation are invited to be present. Besides the necessary business, there will be an interesting and varied program. The missionary lesson will be given in three parts by Mrs. H. R. Brigham, Mrs. C. P. Ashley and Mrs. F. B. Matthews. Mite boxes will be brought in and opened at this meeting. The program will be followed by refreshments and a social hour.

Circles of Mercy on Friday.

A meeting of the Circles of Mercy will be held at the Y. M. C. A. at 2:30 Friday afternoon and hereafter regular meetings will be held every Friday at this time until notice to the contrary. The Thursday morning meetings commencing at 10 o'clock will be continued. It is hoped that every one who can will be present at Friday's meeting.

GASOLINE GOES TO 30 CENTS A GALLON

Motorists who had been hoping for a spring drop in the price of gasoline had their expectations jarred this morning when gas jumped from 28 cents to 30 cents in nearly all of the Kingston garages. Preceding the jump a raise to 25 cents a gallon was announced at the Standard Oil offices.

This makes a jump of more than a third in the price of gasoline since the first of the year, the probable cause of the jump being the increased exportations of gasoline to Europe. In some parts of the country autoists are demanding that the manufacturers attempt to relieve the situation as the high cost of gasoline brings the mileage cost approximately the same rate as is now charged on railroads.

According to the rumors, the Moeve was pursued across the Atlantic ocean by a British cruiser and finally taken.

Similar reports also reached Argentine government officials, but they stated that they had no confirmation.

ICE COMPANIES IN NEW COMBINE

The Foster Scott Ice Company and the Steep Rocks Ice Company have been absorbed in the new Burns Brothers Ice Corporation which is a consolidation of the National Ice Company, Summit Ice Company, the Ice Department of the Burns Brothers and the other two companies mentioned. The new corporation has a capital stock of $6,000,000, consisting of $1,250,000, seven per cent first preferred, $1,000,000, seven per cent second preferred, both cumulative, and $3,750,000 common stock. President J. W. Scott estimates annual earnings of from $400,000 to $600,000 under average weather conditions. John D. Schoonmaker of this city is interested in the Foster Scott Ice Company which is one of the companies forming the new combine.

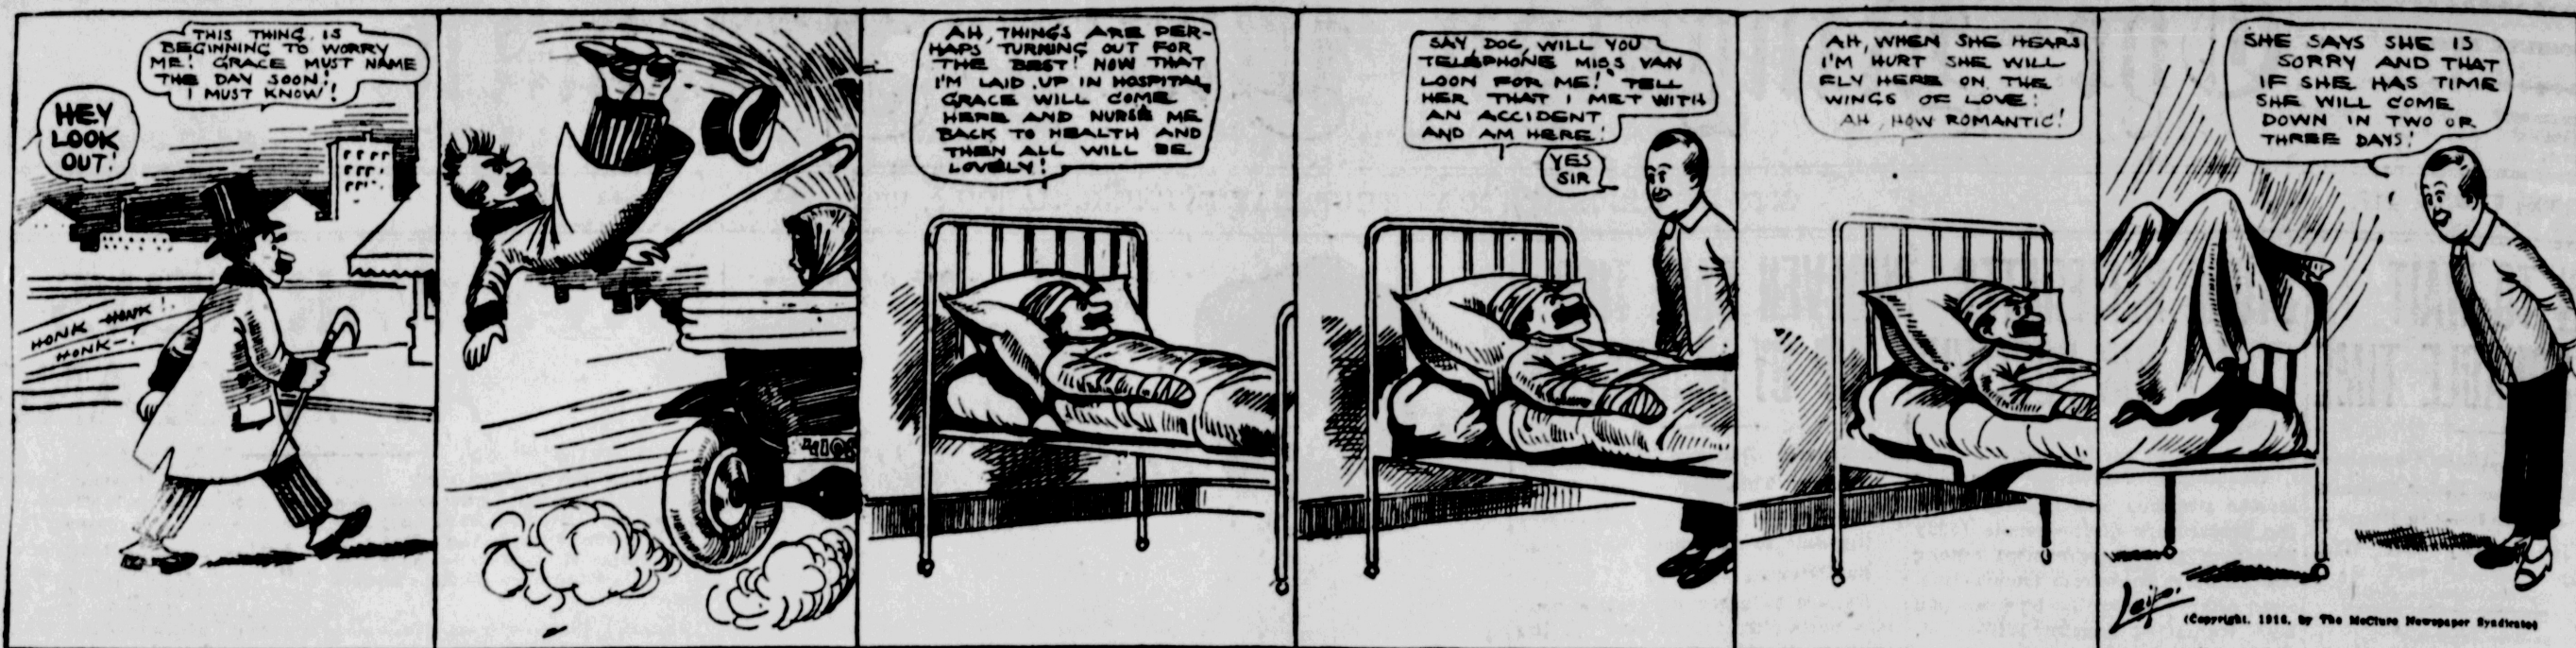

BETTS'S PLANK VOTED DOWN

The committee on resolutions, otherwise known as the platform committee, of the Democratic state convention, held at Syracuse on Wednesday, voted down an addition to the platform offered by Judge Betts of this city in favor of legislation to promote the merchant marine.

The addition to the state platform offered by Judge Betts was as follows: "We favor the immediate adoption of legislation that will promote the merchant marine so that our foreign trade can naturally be advanced and our navy supplemented in time of war."

The committee rejected the recommendation by a vote of 34 to 6. The paragraph for government support of a merchant marine was in accordance with the plan advocated by Secretary of the Treasury William McAdoo.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

1531—A Pretty Frock For Mothers' Girl. Dress With or Without Plastron Trimming, and With Sleeve in Either of Two Lengths.

A good looking school dress could be made from this model, of serge, or wool poplin, with braid trimming and yoke facing of matched satin. For a best dress, soft batiste, dimity or organdie could be used, with lace or insertion and embroidery for trimming. The plastron may be omitted. The sleeve in wrist length has a band cuff. In short length it is to be finished with a narrow band, to fit the arm. This design is also good for voile, gabardine, challis, checked or plain, for galatea, percale, gingham, repp or chambray. The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. It requires 4 yards of 36 inch material for an 8 year size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Mrs. Mary Wolven is visiting friends in Kingston.

Dread winter spreads his latest glooms
And reigns tremendous o'er the conquer'd year
How dead the vegetable kingdom lies;
How dumb the tenebrous horror wide extends
His desolate domain. —Thompson.

MORE GERMAN DISHES.

Fruit soups of various kinds, cold in summer and hot in winter, are great favorites. Here is a good hot one of chocolate:

Chocolate Soup.—Heat gradually one quart of milk. Soften in a little of the milk, five tablespoonfuls of shaved chocolate; simmer eight minutes and sweeten to taste. Beat the yolks of four eggs, add a little of the milk, then add it to the hot milk, but do not boil. Beat the whites of the eggs, add two tablespoonfuls of sugar and drop by teaspoonful into the hot soup. Cover the pot so that the egg whites will cook. Serve either hot or very cold.

Kartoffel Kloesse.—Mash six medium sized potatoes, add two well beaten eggs, two slices of bread, soaked in water and flour to make a dough. Roll in balls the size of an egg, drop into salted water, fast boiling, and cook at a hard boil for twenty minutes. Drain, sprinkle with browned, fried onions and crumbs and serve with apple sauce.

Liver Balls.—Parboil and chop enough liver to make a cupful, mix with it an equal quantity of bread crumbs, soaked in milk; also add a tablespoonful of softened butter, salt, cloves, and chopped parsley with three beaten eggs. Cook slowly until thick; make into balls; drop into a kettle of boiling water and cook for half an hour, drain and serve with parsley garnish.

Cabbage With Sausage.—Remove the outer leaves of a cabbage, take a good slice off the top and remove with a sharp knife as much of the heart as possible. Fill the cavity with sausage, replace the top, tie up and drop into boiling water. Cook until the cabbage is tender. Serve in slices hot or cold.

Sauer Braten.—Cover a piece of beef stew with vinegar and let stand forty-eight hours. Drain and lard it, sprinkle with spices and fry in dripping. When brown, add a lemon rind, two sliced carrots and onions and boiling water. Simmer three hours. Thicken the gravy and add lemon juice to make it tart.

SOCIETY NOTES.

The members of the Girls' Friendly Society will hold a presentation dance this evening at Holy Cross parish house.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Albertson of Marlborough announce the engagement of their daughter, Eliza Ann, to Wilbur D. Lamberson of Gardnertown.

The second annual dance of the Mystic Baseball Club will be held this evening in Pythian Hall. The first dance of this club was a most successful one, and this one is expected to far surpass the previous occasion. Excellent music will be furnished and dancing will be enjoyed until a late hour.

The second meeting of the J. S. Club was held Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Kathryn McDermott, 176 Hasbrouck avenue. Among those present were Misses Helen Dwyer, Marguerite Scanlon, Hazel Redican, Helen Dunne, Florence Joyce and Kathryn Barry. Refreshments were served. The next meeting of the club will be with Miss Helen Dwyer.

The Sunday school class of Miss Margaret Bush "The Sunshine Circle of Bethany Mission" held their monthly meeting at the home of Irma Capash, No. 451 Washington avenue on Wednesday. Many points of business were talked over, after which refreshments were served. The members of the class present were: Edith Dunnagan, Elnora Dunnagan, Bertha Van Vliet, Theresa Nichols, Nellie Halstead, Elizabeth Nestell, Maud Edwards, Edna Boyce, Addie Krum, Margaret Punten, Anna Every, Jessie and Anna Barringer, Grace and Ada Brown, Irma Capash, Grace Haver and Margaret Bush.

The Woman's Missionary Circle of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church will be entertained by Mrs. Cole at the parsonage, 193 Clinton avenue, on Friday afternoon, March 3. The annual election of officers will occur at this time and yearly reports will be given by the secretary and treasurer. Mite boxes will be opened and special offerings received. The program for the afternoon will be as follows: Devotions, Mrs. B. S. Burroughs; mission study, Chapters 1, 2 and 3, from the King's Highway, given by Mrs. H. R. Brigham, Mrs. C. P. Ashley and Mrs. F. B. Matthews. This will be followed by the usual social hour. Every member of the circle is expected and every woman of the church is most cordially invited to be present.

Sunshine Party Success.

The Sunshine card party, held at St. Joseph's Hall on Wednesday afternoon, won a victory, besides being a great success socially and financially. The prediction that such a card party without prizes would not be sufficiently popular to be a paying project, was shown to be a mistake, for in spite of all the social activities crowding in these last days before Lent, there was a fine attendance. Bridge and five-hundred were played, and during the afternoon delicious sherbet and wafers were served. The Sunshine Society would especially thank Father Bridy for his most generous donation of the hall for this affair, and would also thank Burgevin's Sons for the flowers that added so much to the attractiveness of the already attractive hall.

Atharhacton Club.

There was a largely attended meeting of the Atharhacton Club held at the home of Miss Herbert on Washington avenue on Wednesday afternoon. The program for the day opened with a lively discussion of current topics, the chief subject considered being our relations with the foreign countries now at war. Miss Herbert had the paper for the day, on "Fiona McLeod." Miss Herbert told most interestingly of this poet whose writings under the pen name given above were exceedingly poetical and for the most part mystical. When this author has written under his own name of Sharp, his writings have been altogether different in style, showing him to be possessed of a sort of dual personality. He would not own the name of "Fiona McLeod," for, he said that Fiona would die if discovered. Miss Herbert read a number of poems written under the assumed and the real name of the author. Next week the club will meet with Miss Kennedy.

Federation Meeting Saturday.

The Federation of Women's clubs will hold an open meeting of the entire federated body on Saturday afternoon of this week at 2:30 o'clock, at the Chapel of the First Dutch Church. The entertaining club will be the Monday Club and they will present as the speaker of the afternoon, Judge Alton B. Parker whose coming at this time will undoubtedly bring out an audience which will fill the auditorium where the meeting will be held. Judge Parker has not announced the subject of his address, but all who are acquainted with the judge as a speaker know full well that the address will be full of interest to all. The meeting is called for 2:30 o'clock, promptly, and as Judge Parker has to leave Kingston during the afternoon, action will be at once taken at the meeting to postpone the transaction of necessary business until after the address. So all members of the Federation and the public are requested to be prompt in attendance in order that they may hear all that Judge Parker has to say.

Ruth Deyo Honored at Home.

Already a great deal of interest is being shown in the coming of Miss Ruth Deyo, pianist, to Kingston, early in April. And that interest is two-fold in character. Kingston people are now all interested in the great musicians of the day, especially pianists, and Miss Deyo is ranked by the best critics as the first greatest piano-forte player of today; a distinction indeed. But there is an added attraction about Miss Deyo, to the people of Ulster county and vicinity. Her father, Peter Deyo, was widely and well known throughout this section of country before his daughter made him famous. The musician was born in Poughkeepsie, but spent much of her time with her parents in Ulster county where a very little girl, after her mother's death when she was about twelve years of age, Ruth made New Paltz her home, and still calls this charming town by that good name. Her musical ability and gifts showed themselves at a very early age, for friends in Kingston remember well of some of the incidents of her almost-babyhood. As a little tot she wore long curls, and often mother was importuned to hurry with the arranging of those curls because there was a little music in the tiny head that must at once be played. These childish compositions were immeasurably above the average, and the little girl was taken abroad to study. The remainder of her career, which will be told later, is most interesting.

$1000 AUTO RAN DOWN HILL.

But Balked on Upgrade—Walkill Man Then Buys New Machine.

Stephen Mapes, a well known Walkill farmer, went to Newburgh Tuesday to purchase a secondhand automobile for $100 in accordance with correspondence with the owner, according to the Newburgh News. Upon his arrival, however, Mr. Mapes found that the seller insisted that the proper way to take the machine home was to hitch it to his wagon and draw it back to Walkill, explaining that "the roads were very bad." But Mr. Mapes refused and insisted upon a demonstration so the car was run down a hill and performed very satisfactorily. An upgrade test, however, demonstrated that the car had reached its limit. Although the owner then offered to cut the price in halves, Mr. Mapes went to a garage man in Newburgh and bought a $1,000 car.

THE VLY.

The Vly, March 2.—The members of the Busy Bees of The Vly are planning for a banquet in the near future.

Art Christiana has accepted a position as janitor of The Vly high school.

George Trowbridge of this place started out last Saturday morning for a fox chase, returning in the evening with a large catamount.

T. C. Olsen and Mr. Beck, both of the Spring Creek Valley House, returned to the city last Tuesday after a short stay with their families here.

Wesley Burger and family of The Vly spent last Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Osterhout of Kyserville.

Ora Beatty is about to purchase a new automobile.

Those who visited The Vly school last Thursday afternoon were Arthur and Elmer Christiana, Fred DeWitt, Morris Oakley of Krumville, Ray Crispell of Tongore and William Terwilliger of The Vly.

Hans Johnson of this place has a very sick horse at the time of this writing.

William Terwilliger attended the party at C. Donohue's last Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Johnson, of the Maple View farm, is in a bad condition at this writing.

Miss Flossie Wager and Mrs. Mary Alexander of Kyserville spent last Sunday afternoon with Mrs. T. C. Olsen, of the Spring Creek Valley House.

Girls' Basketball Game.

Friday afternoon the lasses of the high school will match their basketball skill with that of a team from the girls' afternoon class of the Y. Y. C. A. the game to be staged in the high school gymnasium. This will be the first contest between the girls' variety five of the high school and a local team and will undoubtedly be hotly contested. A small admission of ten cents will be levied. Friday night the boys' five will tackle the Catskill High School collection of basketball stars on the local court.

FETCHING SIMPLICITY.

One of the Spring Models That Promises to Be Very Popular.

SO CHEO.

This elongated peach basket comes in all the favorite spring shades and novelty weaves. This one is deep tan, with a satin rose set slightly one side of the center front. What gives style to this hat is the enveloping veil of coarse mesh bound with brown ribbon and "belted" at the neck with a slightly wider ribbon held by a rose matching the one on the hat.

CASSEROLE COOKING.

Appetizing Viands Depend Upon Dainty Serving of Them.

The cooking done in casseroles has several important advantages over that of the ordinary kitchen vessel. The dishes are without the metal taste which so often contaminates common pots and pans. As the cooking is slow and thorough the nutritive values of food are preserved, and the perfection of the flavor is therefore concentrated.

The ornamental appearance of the various dishes used permits serving the viands in the very utensils in which they were cooked, which is a tremendous point when the dish needs to be eaten very hot. Food can be put away in the casserole without danger of changing color or taste, as would happen if it were left to chill in a metal vessel. The earthenware of which the dishes are made is not open to the acid influences of fruit and therefore is without the possibility of any noxious change. The enamel of the inside does not scale off, it is easily kept clean, and so food prepared in the casserole is clean and sweet.

The pretty marmite for soupmaking, the larger and smaller pots and shallow pans and plates in every size can be bought. Among the many shades of brown there are some green tones (these vessels of French make), which are very effective on the table. Some don'ts are involved in the proper care of the charming utensils.

Before using them for the first time the dishes should be soaked in cold water for some hours, as this will help to keep them from cracking on their first exposure to heat. Never put the vessels on the hot stove or in the oven without first putting in water or fat. Do not put them roughly on a metal surface or set them when hot on a wet table. A fierce heat is never desirable, and so, even if the flame of the top of the stove is low, it is best to put an asbestos mat under the vessel used.

Many more things for the preservation of these toylike cooking vessels might be said, and for young housekeepers and girls who want to learn how to cook in a dainty and perfect manner they are certainly more inspiring than the common cook pot, pan and kettle.

The Nursery Bib.

Away with the bib and its strings that will knot or the buttons that will not button! Here is the dearest little eating apron that ever covered dainty ruffles or Dickens sides, and when mother realizes what a very simple matter the making of such an apron can be she will hasten to fashion one for the littlest girl or boy in the nursery. A Turkish towel or a simple huck affair can be turned with a snip of the scissors and a few stitches into a comfortable, easily managed apron. At about two-thirds of the length of the towel cut a hole large enough for the little head to slip through. Bind this with tape or scallop if you wish a little extra fanciness. The shorter side is then gathered or plaited into a belt, made from wide tape or a piece of old toweling, which passes around to the front and holds the apron in place. Cross stitch may make the little apron still more attractive, especially if the design be the favorite nursery chicks, bunnies or kittens. While the linen or huck toweling is really more practical because of its absorbent qualities. It saves crying over spilt milk.

Oat Bread. Make a sponge of four cupfuls rolled oats (dry), one-half cupful molasses, two cupfuls boiling water, scant tablespoonful of lard, one teaspoonful salt, one-half yeast cake dissolved in a little lukewarm water. Add only part of the flour, then let rise overnight. Now add about four cupfuls flour and knead about fifteen minutes. Let rise until twice its size, form into loaves, let rise until its bulk is doubled, then bake about forty-five minutes. This makes two large loaves.

How to Drive Horses. In making a long drive let the horses start out slowly for the first few miles. You can then increase their speed and the trip will be made in shorter time than if they had been driven fast at the start.—Farm and Fireside.

Economy Hints

A penny saved is a penny earned.—Benjamin Franklin.

How to Do Ironing Satisfactorily.

FIRST of all the irons must be immaculately clean and suited to the article to be ironed. Irons come now in all sizes, for all purposes.

Heat the irons slowly, but have them very hot before starting, even if they must be cooled later. Try them on a soft clean cloth.

The ironing sheet also must be clean. For fine lingerie cover the ordinary ironing sheet with thin material. For embroidery and lace use a Turkish towel, pinned tightly around the board.

To stiffen articles slightly without starch rub them on the wrong side with warm water and borax.

To clean the irons if starch sticks rub them with fine emery paper, then with a little paraffin wrapped in muslin. If an iron becomes rusty scrub it with hot water and soap, then rub it very lightly with lard. Wipe it carefully with absorbent cotton to remove all traces of the lard.

Never allow irons to get red hot, as it takes the temper out. Do not put a hot iron in water to cool it; stand it on one side for a few minutes.

It is unwise to put irons directly over the gas flame, as it spoils the iron. In the absence of a special device for holding them use an asbestos mat.

When possible colored goods should be ironed on the wrong side, then pressed on the right. This brings out the coloring. All wool underwear ought not to be ironed, as ironing causes it to shrink.

How to Cure Hiccups.

Hiccups can be as troublesome as any of the minor ills which aggravate mankind, but from time out of mind there has been a remedy for every ill, and hiccups share the lot of other ills in this respect.

One old cure for hiccups is this: "Take three or four preserved damsons in your mouth at a time and swallow them by degrees." A temptation this would seem to be to children of another generation to have attacks of hiccups.

Water drinking often stops this trouble. The water should be slowly swallowed, not gulped down—swallowed, like the damsons, by degrees.

The best water treatment is this: Fill the mouth with cool water. Hold each forefinger over the lobe of the ear, closing it tight. Then swallow the water very slowly. If this operation is properly carried out it is almost sure to cure hiccups.

Still another remedy is sugar, and this acts like a charm with some persons. The sugar should be of the granulated sort, and a full teaspoonful should be taken at once. It should be swallowed slowly.

Holding the breath is sometimes efficacious. Hold it and count twenty or thirty slowly.

How to Keep Baby Covered.

Mothers since time immemorial have slept lightly of nights with the necessity of rousing often to draw the coverlets over restless little ones.

The active child simply will not lie quietly all night long, and the more active and healthful it is the more do the little limbs kick and toss about in dreams. Many devices have been resorted to to keep the baby covered, but here is a contrivance that seems the best thing of the sort yet.

At the four corners of the quilt a little larger than the size of baby's crib are metal snap fasteners. Ribbons are sewed to the uprights of the crib in such a position that they cannot slip. It is the matter of a moment to snap the buttons fast, the coverlet being drawn so smoothly and snugly over the other bedding that only very strenuous kicking on the part of the child will disarrange it. The snap buttoned coverlet should be large enough to spread roomily over the mattress and bedding.

How to Clean Lace With Magnesia.

Very fine lace, when slightly soiled, can be beautifully cleaned in a preparation of block magnesia in which a small quantity of dry bluing has been sifted. Scrape the magnesia from the block, use dry bluing if obtainable, then coat the lace on both sides with the substance. Wrap it in several thicknesses of a folded towel and beat the towel lightly from end to end, side to side, and repeat until the lace is free from all dust.

This is an exceptionally successful method of cleaning Irish crochet and silk laces. When too badly soiled make a preparation of equal parts of gasoline and chloroform, containing a few drops of ammonia, and mix in this sufficient cornstarch to make a soft paste. Apply this to the lace, allow the cornstarch to dry thoroughly, then shake the lace free from dust. Very delicate lace yokes containing silver and gold threads, thosel or jewels can be cleaned without injury in this manner.

Getting Down to Cases.

"I would go to the ends of the earth for you."

"Let us have some plain talk," said the girl. "Am I to understand that you will take me around the world on the wedding trip?"—Philadelphia Bulletin.

MR. DWIGHT F. DAVIS

DAVIS CUP FOR PARK TENNIS PLAYERS.

New York, March 2.—Dwight F. Davis, park commissioner of St. Louis, and donor of the famous international tennis trophy, is here conferring with Park Commissioner Ward and Mayor Mitchel relative to donating a cup to stimulate tennis playing in the public parks of cities in the United States.

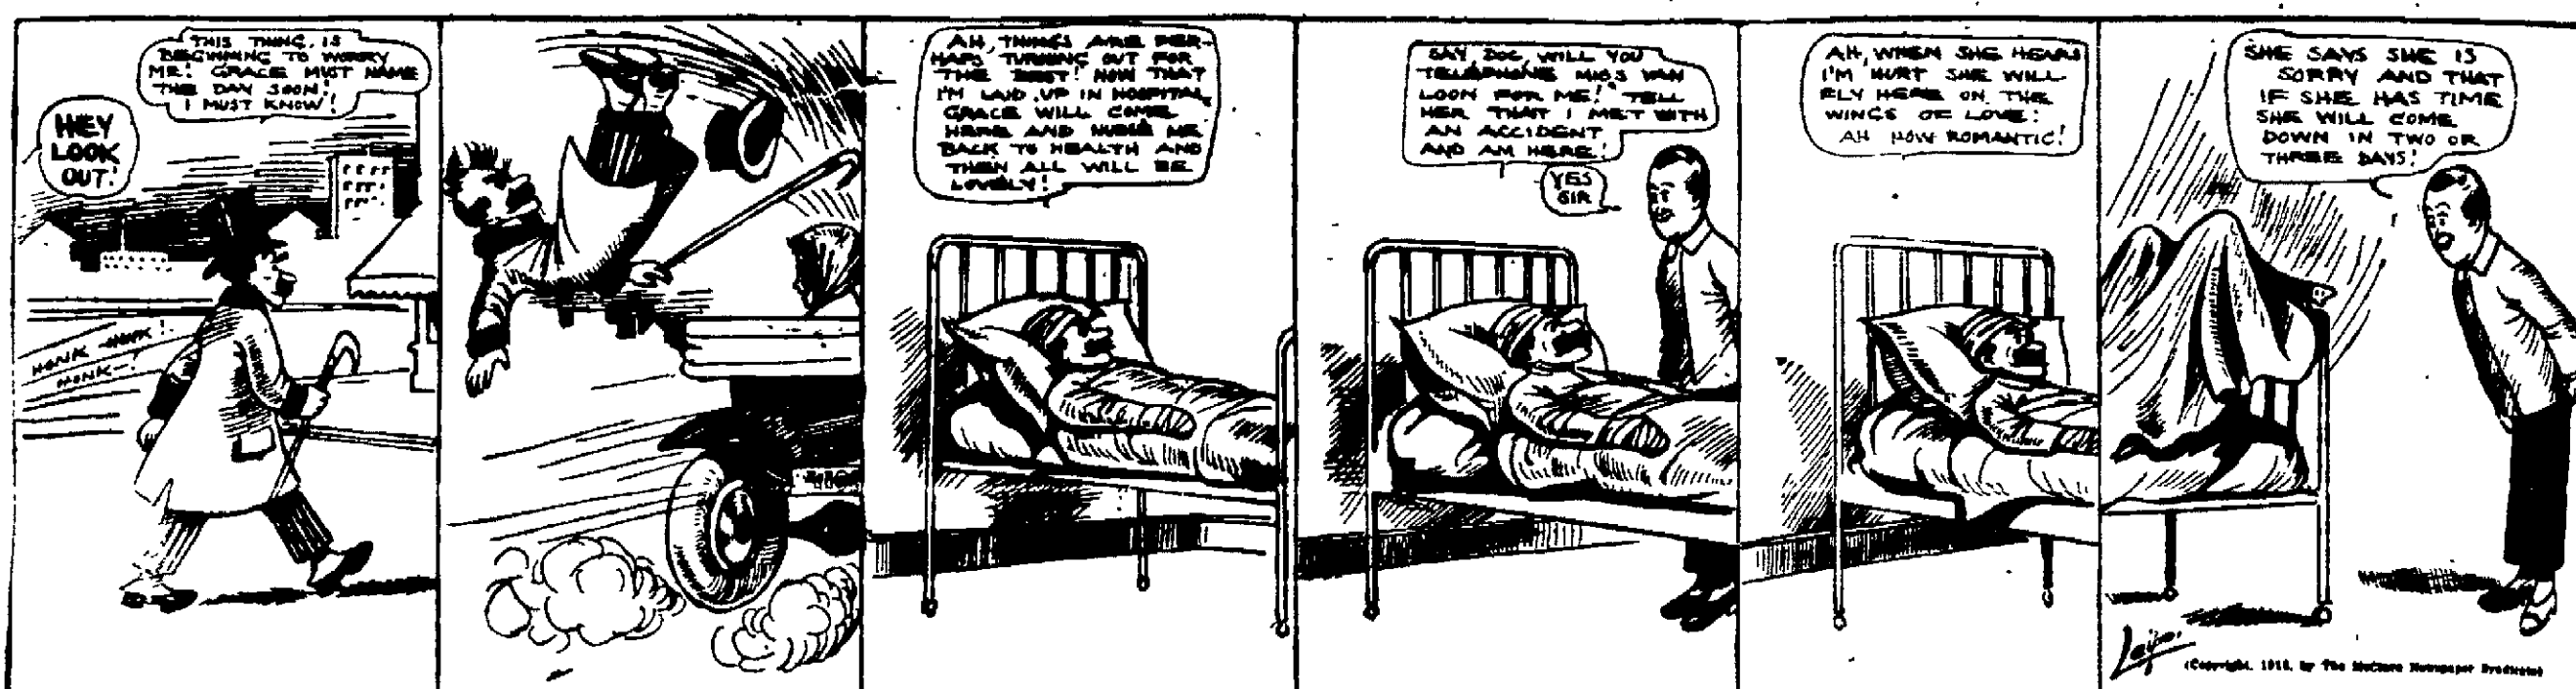

It is Mr. Davis's plan to offer a championship cup to be played for each year by park teams representing the various cities. It is planned to hold the first matches in St. Louis during the coming summer. His plan has been favorably received in Boston and other cities which he has visited.

Nelson as a Courtier.

Nelson was the hero of England even in his own time, but not apparently of the court. Samuel Rogers recounts a conversation with him which appears in the life of the poet by R. Ellis Roberts. "I heard him once during dinner," says Rogers, "utter many bitter complaints (which Lady Hamilton vainly attempted to check) of the way he had been treated at court that forenoon—the queen had not condescended to take the slightest notice of him. In truth, Nelson was hated at court; they were jealous of him." But then it must be remembered that Rogers was renowned as a particularly ill-natured gossip.

Sunshine.

In a year 4,472 hours of sunshine are possible, but few places ever experience the maximum.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—Oh! Grace How Can You Be So Mean?

PROSPERITY WEEK

WHILE in America we see the bright dawn of Prosperity pushing up above a sombre horizon, in Europe the sun shines through grimy panes, not with a golden radiance, but rosy red—the blood of heroes and martyrs penetrates in a ruby flood the brown earth, to which hundreds of thousands of human beings have been returned.

Under the Ever Glorious Stars and Stripes a hundred million of men, women and children greet each other with the message of returning Prosperity. Peace, Full and Plenty fill the length and breadth of the land. Fine brews like our high-grade are within the reach of all. The clouds that hung low and dark on the business horizon are being scattered. The Sun of Commercial Depression is set. Every evening portends a brighter morrow. Welcome, Prosperity!

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A good looking school dress could be made from this model, of serge, or wool poplin, with braid trimming and yoke facing of matched satin. For a best dress, soft batiste, dimity or organdie could be used, with lace or insertion and embroidery for trimming. The plastron may be omitted. The sleeve in short length has a band cut in short length it is to be fitted with a narrow band, to fit the arm. This design is also good for voile, gabardine, challie, checked or plaid cutting, for gaiters, percale, gingham, repp or chambray. The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. It requires 4 yards of 36 inch material for an 8 year size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

The KITCHEN CABINET
Dread winter spreads his latest glooms,
And reigns tremendous o'er the conquer'd year
How dead the vegetable kingdom lies;
How dumb the tuneful horror wide extends
His desolate domain. —Thompson.

MORE GERMAN DISHES.

Fruit soups of various kinds, cold in summer and hot in winter, are great favorites. Here is a good hot one of chocolate:

Chocolate Soup.—Heat gradually one quart of milk. Soften in a little of the milk, five tablespoonfuls of shaved chocolate, simmer eight minutes and sweeten to taste.

Beat the yolks of four eggs, add a little of the milk, then add it to the hot milk, but do not boil. Beat the whites of the eggs, add two tablespoonfuls of sugar and drop by teaspoonfuls into the hot soup. Cover the pot so that the egg whites will cook. Serve either hot or very cold.

Kartoffel Kloese.—Blanch six medium sized potatoes, add two well beaten eggs, two slices of bread, soaked in water and flour to make a dough. Roll in balls the size of an egg, drop into salted water, fast boiling, and cook at a hard boil for twenty minutes. Drain, sprinkle with browned, fried onions and crumbs and serve with apple sauce.

Liver Balls.—Parboil and chop enough liver to make a cupful, mix with it an equal quantity of bread crumbs, soaked in milk; also add a tablespoonful of softened butter, salt, cloves, and chopped parsley with three beaten eggs. Cook slowly until thick; make into balls; drop into a kettle of boiling water and cook for half an hour, drain and serve with parsley garnish.

Cabbage With Sausage.—Remove the outer leaves of a cabbage, take a good slice off the top and remove with a sharp knife as much of the heart as possible. Fill the cavity with sausage, replace the top, tie up and drop into boiling water. Cook until the cabbage is tender. Serve in slices hot or cold.

Sauer Braten.—Cover a piece of beef stew with vinegar and let stand forty-eight hours. Drain and lard it, sprinkle with spices and fry in drippings. When brown, add a lemon rind, two sliced carrots and onions and boiling water. Simmer three hours. Thicken the gravy and add lemon juice to make it tart.

Nellie Maxwell
ALLABEN.

Allaben, March 2.—Miss Beulah Guinick spent the week end in Phoenicia with her aunt, Mrs. Benjamin Guinick.

Hiram Evans and sister, Maud, of Albany have been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Whipple of this place.

Everybody up Broad Street Hollow have had grip for the past week. All are improving now.

J. Mac Laren is spending a few days in Ellenville with his wife.

The old and young folks both have enjoyed riding down hill last week evenings on G. B. Riseley's hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Winne and granddaughter, Beatrice, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Winne of Ashokan last Thursday evening.

Miss Bradley of Kingston and Miss Lizzie McCann and Miss Anna Moran were all guests the week end of Miss Agnes LaFerty.

Myron Joslyn of Broad Street Hollow has accepted a position with Brethaupt Brothers of Phoenicia.

Christopher Van Deusen is seriously ill at his home in this place.

Dr. Hoyt of Mt. Pleasant is his physician.

By La Racontouse.

Again the sailor appears in various creations, either in a severe tailored untrimmed effect or trimmed in one form or another. Black and white is a popular combination shown in many of the very smart sailor hats. Illustrated is a medium sized shape, the brim faced with black velvet. The upper brim and crown is covered with white kid, and a wreath of kid flowers surrounds the crown.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MARCH 2, 1916.

The unofficial Democratic State Convention at Syracuse has come and gone. It was a lovely gathering, marred by no cross words on the part of the Tammany or up-State delegates. This was the result of "preparedness," the whole program having been cut and dried in advance by the leaders. In the selection of delegates to the National Convention great acumen was displayed. Senator O'Gorman was named to catch the Irish vote, Samuel Untermyer to attract the Jewish vote, George J. Meyer to please the German vote, and William Church Osborn as a sop to the lightbrow and native sons vote. Besides, four alternates were named, of whom we never heard before, but who were put on, we presume, to catch the ignorant masses who come under no special classification. The big feature of the occasion was Former Governor Glynn's reply to Former Senator Root's recent "keynote" speech. Glynn tried hard to be a keynoter himself, but his keys seem to unlock nothing. The gist of what he said was that President Wilson is a great man because he has kept the country out of war, that the sad events in Mexico cannot be justly cited against Wilson because Taft didn't clean up the situation during the last few months of his administration, and that the Underwood tariff has brought great prosperity to the country. As our readers are too well informed to become impressed by such arguments, we will not waste space in commenting upon them. Neither do we expect that Senator Root will say anything. Why use a pile-driver to kill a mouse?

Apart from his having started life as a newsboy and subsequently branching out as foundry helper and farm land, from which obscure places he rose to a proud position on the highest court of the state, the career of Associate Judge William E. Werner of the Court of Appeals, whose death occurred Wednesday, is chiefly notable for the high courage which marked his attitude on the recall of judicial decisions. It was in the presidential campaign of 1912 that the Progressive party doctrine favoring recall of judicial decisions incurred the vigorous denunciation of Judge Werner. This attitude won for him the bitter enmity of Colonel Roosevelt, who, as Governor, had first designated Judge Werner an Associate Judge. Roosevelt attacked Judge Werner for his decision in the Ives case, the first test of the workmen's compensation principle in this State, which declared the law unconstitutional. Because of his stand on these two questions, Judge Werner was made the target of Roosevelt's opposition when a candidate for Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals, being defeated by Chief Judge Willard Bartlett. Time, however, has vindicated the dead jurist on both counts of the Roosevelt indictment. Recall of judicial decisions is a dead letter while the Ives case ruling guided the legislature into passing a constitutional statute. But to Werner fell the humiliation of defeat because of a conscientious stand for what he believed, and which afterward proved to be right. His death removes an able and upright jurist who was an ornament to the bench of our highest court.

The benefits of co-operation between shippers were made patent at the recent meeting between fruit growers on the west shore of the river between Kingston and New York and New York Central railroad officials. A plan were projected will mean a fast freight service for perishable fruit in the territory affected and will cut the cost of marketing far below present charges, an item bound to be appreciated by consumer as well as producer. The shipping is to be by carload lots with the shippers acting as a unit, thus making necessary an organization to meet requirements. With one shipper and one consignee to deal with, the railroad will be able to give its lowest rate, while the convenience of all concerned will be served thereby. This is merely another illustration of the need of organization to meet the requirements of modern marketing and the avoidance of high express charges. In effect, it means that a co-operative system must be employed if Ulster county producers are to realize the profit to which they are entitled, of which so large a proportion now goes to the middleman and the transportation agencies. In touch with the greatest market of the world and producing fruit of unrivalled quality, Ulster growers cannot but find that a united front in shipping as well as selling will be most valuable, and this co-operative marketing scheme needs but a season's operation to demonstrate its usefulness.

Between and Between.
Peace Philop Snowden, the English peace propagandist, was talking at a tea on her recent visit to New York.

"Our Scottish soldiers," said Mrs. Snowden, "who were sent to France in the beginning of the war, attracted so much attention on account of their national costume that for a time their lives were made miserable for them. The short kilts skirted for gay plaid reaching only to the bare knees of the Scottish regiments, made a sensation among the French who saw this odd costume for the first time."
"There is a story apropos," she said.

"A certain very pretty and very smart French countess had allowed herself to be persuaded by her Rue de la Paix dressmaker to have one of the extremely short skirts of the 1916 fashion made for her new walking suit. Putting it on fearfully one morning, for her husband's inspection she said nervously:

"How do you like my skirt, dearie?"

"The count answered good-naturedly enough:

"Well, my pet, I suppose it's all right; but isn't it a bit too long for a kilt?"—New York Telegraph.

Artful Dodger.

"And what did my little son learn about this morning?"

"Oh a mouse, Miss Wilcox told us all about mouses."

"That's the boy! Now, how do you spell 'mouse'?"

It was then that Arthur gave promise of being an artful dodger. He paused meditatively for a moment then said:

"Father, I guess I was wrong. It wasn't a mouse teacher was telling us about. It was a rat."—Harper's Magazine.

A Compliment.

What John G. Johnson, Philadelphia lawyer, regards as the highest compliment ever paid to his legal skill was recounted at a lawyers' dinner in the Quaker city.

An engineering case in Pittsburgh, relative to certain defective boiler work roused great interest among the local boilermakers, who crowded the court every day.

When Mr. Johnson, on the last day was addressing the court for plaintiffs, a foreman boilermaker came in and sat down beside the principal of the plaintiff firm, whom he knew well. After Mr. Johnson had dealt very ably and exhaustively with abstruse technical details and with all manner of odd shop customs, the foreman turned to his neighbor and whispered:

"Who's that feller talkin' to the judge?"

"That's John G. Johnson, our counsel," was the reply.

"What?" roared the foreman. "Do you mean to tell me that feller's 'no a lawyer? Get out with you! He knows too much for that." Here his voice mounted so high that the judge heard him and looked up. "I tell you that feller's a boilermaker!"—Philadelphia Bulletin.

TWENTY AND TEN YEARS AGO.

March 2, 1896.—Alms Commissioners decided to place $25,000 mortgage on alms house.

Common council held executive session to consider city charter revision.

Abram Wood, soda water manufacturer, celebrated his 71st birthday.

Firm of Klingberg & Clark, civil engineers, dissolved by mutual consent.

John Gay had finger smashed while working on U. & D. bridge on Meadow street.

March 2, 1906.—House of Mrs. James Wilson at 492 Delaware avenue, burned to ground.

Common council passed resolution calling attention to poor quality of gas and calling on Kingston Gas & Electric Company to remedy it, and directed corporation counsel to take steps to enforce terms of city's contract.

Assemblyman Fowler introduced another bill to keep New York city out of Ulster county.

An Electric Cooked Banquet.

Two hours to cook a 20 pound turkey and half that time to eat it was the record at a Pleasant valley demonstration of electric cooking. Everything but the eating was done by electricity and village officials were guests of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company.

TO MAKE HUNTERS WEAR BUTTONS

Walton Bill to Amend Fish and Game Laws Covers a General Revision of Many Features.

A requirement that every hunter wear on his coat a button giving the number of his license, provision for taking dogs into the forest preserve under a license to be issued by the Conservation Commission, and a broadening of the regulations regarding the importing of lawfully killed game into the state of New York, are the chief points in a bill amending the Conservation Law generally, which was introduced concurrently in the senate and assembly by Senator Charles W. Walton and Assemblyman H. Edmund Machold, chairman of the Conservation Committee of both houses. The bill, which is the result of careful collaboration during the last two months between the Conservation Commission and the chairman of the two committees, makes in all about twenty-five other changes in the game laws.

License to take a dog into the forest preserves is to be issued by the Conservation Commission in its discretion and under such rules and regulations as it may deem advisable. A metal tag bearing the number of the license is to be attached to the collar and worn by the dog at all times. No dog is to run at large in the Adirondack or Catskill Parks, or in forests inhabited by deer, unless accompanied by the owner. Under the provisions of this section it will hereafter be possible for owners of bird, rabbit and fox dogs to hunt with them in the forest preserve. The owner, however, is made responsible for the actions of his dog at all times.

Importation of fish and game from without the state, which under the present law is allowed only between the 16th of September and the 1st of January following, is permitted under a section of the prepared new law at all times when such game may lawfully be transported from the state where taken. Game or fish so imported during the closed season in New York state can be brought in only under an importation license issued by the commission, but during the open season in this state no such license is required. If shipped by common carrier, shipping permits issued by the commission must be attached.

A more rational system for the rating and compensation of game protectors is provided, by stipulating that each protector who shall have been rated in the first grade for the year shall receive increased salary at the rate of $50 per year for every year in which he shall attain that grade, until his salary amounts to $1,300, but with the further provision that the commission shall have the power to cancel the whole, or any part of these increases upon the failure of any protector to qualify for the first grade in any year.

Free distribution of a syllabus of the game laws is provided for, as well as the sale, at the cost of publication, of the complete text of the Conservation Law in relation to fish and game.

The open season on deer is extended to that portion of Lewis and Jefferson counties lying west of the Ulster and Black River Railroad, which was heretofore closed. Possession of deer or venison, under a license to be issued by the Conservation Commission, is allowed until February 1st, instead of to the former date limit of January 1st.

Another section provides for the breeding of varying hares and cotton-tail rabbits in captivity and for buying and selling them for food purposes at any time, under a license to be issued by the commission.

The bill further provides that mink and sable may be taken either in the day time or at night, and in any manner, and possessed, from November 10th to March 15th, instead of from November 16th to April 20th, as heretofore.

The open seasons for game birds remains unchanged, but provision is made for possession of game birds for an additional period of five days immediately following the open season.

The closed season on yellow perch in Oneida Lake is removed and the taking, sale and purchase of these fish from that lake is permitted at all times.

The law against the taking of scallops less than one year old is strengthened by bringing under its prohibition scallops taken from planted or cultivated oyster lands.

Other sections of the bill deal with moieties, penalties and minor changes in the Conservation Law.

CANARY COLORED WORKINGMEN

State Steps in For Health of Wappingers Falls Dyers.

Representatives of the Division of Industrial Hygiene, State Labor Department, have ordered the Standard Aniline Products Company of Wappingers Falls, to have a doctor at the plant each day to examine workers to see that they do not become anemic from working in the dye materials. Residents of the village made complaint because of the canary-colored hue of the skin and hair of workmen in the paranthraline department of the plant.

MAKING PLANS FOR AUTO SHOW

Several matters of importance in regard to the coming auto show at the armory the latter part of this month were discussed at the meeting of the executive committee last night at the Eagle Hotel. It is certain that Governor Whitman will speak on the opening night Thursday, March 30, and Secretary of State Francis M. Hugo will also lend prestige to the show, delivering an address the following night.

From the hotel where the governor will stop he will be escorted to the armory by Company M, led by a band. Mayor Canfield will open the show Thursday night and the governor's address will follow. The chief executive of the state will be entertained after the show at a banquet given by the Ulster County Automobile Association at the Stuyvesant. Among others, the president and secretary of the New York state association will be asked to speak at the banquet.

Secretary of State Hugo will be the principal speaker on Tuesday's program and an automobile parade will also be a conspicuous feature of that night's events. There is no doubt that a large number of cars will be in line. Arrangements for the last night of the show have not yet been completed but will be announced later.

People from an extensive territory will be present at the show, the railroad running special trains and perhaps reducing their rates for the occasion. With the novelty of having an auto exhibition in Kingston and with bargains by local merchants a magnet for crowds, there is little doubt that there will be crowds in town resembling those of circus days. An advertising campaign will be launched by the committee at a time when they think that it will bring results. Fifty cars inside the armory and several trucks outside the drill shed will be on exhibition, together with auto accessories of all kinds.

Season tickets admitting the bearer to the three shows are being sold by the auto dealers and members of the association for fifty cents while the single admission will be twenty-five cents. Season tickets will also be sold at the armory while the show is in progress.

GRANITE.

Granite, March 2.—Clyde Sheldon visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Selah Sheldon, the past week-end. He is employed at Walden.

Miss Mattie Simpson spent Wednesday last in Kingston.

Dolman and Glick, who recently purchased the Friedland property, have sold it to a real estate dealer from Jamaica, Long Island.

A party of ladies from this place took advantage of the good sleighing Thursday past and went for a ride to Ellenville. Mrs. W. C. Markle entertained them.

Mrs. Rosetti Decker celebrated her birthday anniversary last Wednesday. A number of ladies were present and enjoyed a fine birthday dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Sheldon were very agreeably surprised by a number of friends Saturday evening. Music and games were enjoyed and after bountiful refreshments were served all returned to their homes, reporting a fine time.

Miss Jennie Sheldon attended a basketball game in Ellenville on Friday evening.

The Function of Advertising

Advertising is a vital force in the problem of distribution.

But to be nearly 100 per cent. efficient it must be linked to the selling end of the business.

Manufacturers are turning to newspaper advertising because it ties up with the men who sell their goods—the retail dealers.

Retailers are not only newspaper readers but they directly feel the effects of newspaper advertising.

They are cordial to products when manufacturers advertise them in the newspapers.

Miss Doty Reinstated.

A petition signed by most of the students of Moran's Business School asking that Miss Doty, stenography teacher, who resigned last Friday, be returned to the teaching staff of the school resulted in her resuming duty this week. Miss Doty, after resigning, decided to teach pupils in stenography and typewriting independently but when the pupils of the Moran School heard of it they at once circulated the petition.

Small Fire at Station.

An alarm of fire from box 61 shortly after five o'clock Wednesday afternoon called the firemen to the West Shore, where the roof of the power plant which furnishes steam for heating the station was found on fire. The fire which was probably started by a passing locomotive was quickly extinguished.

SOCIETY NOTES

The members of the Girls' Friendly Society will hold a pre-lenten invitation dance this evening at Holy Cross parish house.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Albertson of Marlborough announce the engagement of their daughter, Eliza Ann, to Wilbur D. Lamberson of Gardnertown.

The second annual dance of the Music Baseball Club will be held this evening in Frithian Hall. The first dance of this club was a most successful one, and this one is expected to far surpass the previous occasion. Excellent music will be furnished and dancing will be enjoyed until a late hour.

The second meeting of the J. S. Club was held Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Kathryn McDermott, 176 Hasbrouck avenue. Among those present were Misses Helen Dwyer, Marguerite Scanlon, Hazel Redican, Helen Dunne, Florence Joyce and Kathryn Barry. Refreshments were served. The next meeting of the club will be with Miss Helen Dwyer.

The Sunday school class of Miss Margaret Bush "The Sunshine Circle of Bethany Mission" held their monthly meeting at the home of Irma Capash, No. 451 Washington avenue on Wednesday. Many points of business were talked over, after which refreshments were served. The members of the class present were: Edith Dunnagan, Elnora Dunnagan, Bertha Van Vleet, Theresa Nichols, Nellie Halstead, Elizabeth Nestell, Maud Edwards, Edna Boyce, Addie Krum, Margaret Buntin, Anna Every, Jessie and Anna Barringer, Grace and Ada Brock, Irma Capash, Grace Hoyer and Margaret Bush.

The Woman's Missionary Circle of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church will be entertained by Mrs. Cole at the parsonage, 133 Clinton avenue, on Friday afternoon, March 3. The annual election of officers will occur at this time and yearly reports will be given by the secretary and treasurer. Life boxes will be opened and special offerings received. The program for the afternoon will be as follows: Devotions, Mrs. B. S. Burroughs; mission study, Chapters 1, 2 and 3, from the King's Highway, given by Mrs. H. R. Brigham, Mrs. C. P. Ashley and Mrs. F. B. Matthews. This will be followed by the usual social hour. Every member of the circle is expected and every woman of the church is most cordially invited to be present.

Sunshine Party Success.

The Sunshine card party, held at St. Joseph's Hall on Wednesday afternoon, won a victory, besides being a great success socially and financially. The prediction that such a card party without prizes would not be sufficiently popular to be a paying project, was shown to be a mistake, for in spite of all the social activities crowding in these last days before Lent, there was a fine attendance. Bridge and five-hundred were played, and during the afternoon delicious sherbet and wafers were served. The Sunshine Circle would especially thank Father Brody for his most generous donation of the hall for this affair, and would also thank Burgevin's Sons for the flowers that added so much to the attractiveness of the already attractive hall.

Athlathion Club.

There was a largely attended meeting of the Athlathion Club held at the home of Miss Herbert on Washington avenue on Wednesday afternoon. The program for the day consisted of a lively discussion of current topics, the chief subject considered being our relations with the foreign countries now at war. Miss Herbert had the paper for the day, on "Flora McLeod." Miss Herbert told most interestingly of this poet whose writings under the pen name given above were exceedingly poetical and for the most part mystical. When this author has written under his own name of Sharp, his writings have been altogether different in style, showing him to be possessed of a sort of dual personality. He would not own the name of "Flora McLeod," for, he said that Flora would die if discovered. Miss Herbert read a number of poems written under the assumed and the real name of the author. Next week the club will meet with Miss Kennedy.

Federation Meeting Saturday.

The Federation of Women's clubs will hold an open meeting of the entire federated body on Saturday afternoon of this week at 2:30 o'clock at the Chapel of the First Dutch Church. The entertaining will be the Monday Club and they will present as the speaker of the afternoon, Judge Alton B. Parker whose coming at this time will undoubtedly bring out an audience which will fill the auditorium where the meeting will be held. Judge Parker has not announced the subject of his address, but all who are acquainted with the judge as a speaker know full well that the address will be full of interest to all. The meeting is called for 2:30 o'clock, promptly, and as Judge Parker has to leave Kingston during the afternoon, action will be at once taken at the meeting to postpone the transaction of necessary business until after the address. So all members of the Federation and the public are requested to be prompt in attendance in order that they may hear all that Judge Parker has to say.

Ruth Deyo Honored at Home.

Already a great deal of interest is being shown in the coming of Miss Ruth Deyo, pianist, to Kingston, early in April. And that interest is two-fold in character. Kingston people are now all interested in the great musicians of the day, especially pianists, and Miss Deyo is ranked by the best critics as the fifth greatest piano-forte player of today; a distinction indeed. But there is an added attraction about Miss Deyo, to the people of Ulster county and vicinity. Her father, Peter Deyo, was widely and well known throughout this section of country before his daughter made him famous. The musician was born in Poughkeepsie, but spent much of her time with her parents in Ulster county where a very little girl, after her mother's death when she was about twelve years of age. Ruth made New Paltz her home, and still calls this charming town by that good name. Her musical ability and gifts showed themselves at a very early age, for friends in Kingston remember well of some of the incidents of her almost-babyhood. As a little tot she wore long curls, and often mother was importuned to hurry with the arranging of those curls because there was a little music in the tiny head that must at once be played. These childish compositions were immeasurably above the average, and the little girl was taken abroad to study. The remainder of her career, which will be told later, is most interesting.

But Talked on Upgrade—Walkill Man Then Buys New Machine.

Stephen Mapes, a well known Walkill farmer, went to Newburgh Tuesday to purchase a secondhand automobile for $100 in accordance with correspondence with the owner, according to the Newburgh News. Upon his arrival, however, Mr. Mapes found that the seller insisted that the proper way to take the machine home was to hitch it to his wagon and draw it back to Walkill, explaining that "the road were very bad." But Mr. Mapes refused and insisted upon a demonstration so the car was run down a hill and performed very satisfactorily. An upgrade test, however, demonstrated that the car had reached its limit. Although the owner then offered to cut the price in halves, Mr. Mapes went to a garage man in Newburgh and bought a $1,000 car.

THE VLY.

The Vly, March 2.—The members of the Busy Bees of The Vly are planning for a banquet in the near future.

Art Christiana has accepted a position as janitor of The Vly high school.

George Trowbridge of this place started out last Saturday morning for a fox chase, returning in the evening with a large catamount.

A. C. Olsen and Mr. Beck, both of the Spring Creek Valley House, returned to the city last Tuesday after a short stay with their families here.

Wesley Burger and family of The Vly spent last Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Osterhout of Kyserike.

Ora Beatty is about to purchase a new automobile.

Those who visited The Vly school last Thursday afternoon were Arthur and Elmer Christiana, Fred DeWitt, Morris Oakley of Krumville, Ray Crispell of Tougore and William Terwilliger of The Vly.

Hans Johnson of this place has a very sick horse at the time of this writing.

William Terwilliger attended the party at C. Donohue's last Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Johnson, of the Maple View farm, is in a bad condition at this writing.

Miss Flossie Wager and Mrs. Mary Alexander of Kyserike spent last Sunday afternoon with Mrs. T. C. Olsen, of the Spring Creek Valley House.

Girls' Basketball Game.

Friday afternoon the ladies of the high school will watch their basketball skill with that of a team from the girls' afternoon class of the Y. C. A. the game to be staged in the high school gymnasium. This will be the first contest between the girls' variety Ave of the high school and a local team and will undoubtedly be hotly contested. A small admission of ten cents will be levied. Friday night the boys' five will tackle the Catskill High School collection of basketball stars on the local court.

FETCHING SIMPLICITY.

This elongated peach basket comes in all the favorite spring shades and novelty weaves. This one is deep tan, with a satin rose set slightly one side of the center front. What gives style to this hat is the enveloping veil of coarse mesh bound with brown ribbon and "belled" at the neck with a slightly wider ribbon held by a rose matching the one on the hat.

CASSEROLE COOKING.

The cooking done in casseroles has several important advantages over that of the ordinary kitchen vessel. The dishes are without the metal taste which so often contaminates common pots and pans. As the cooking is slow and thorough the nutritive values of food are preserved, and the perfection of the flavor is therefore concentrated.

The ornamental appearance of the various dishes used permits serving the viands in the very utensils in which they were cooked, which is a tremendous point when the dish needs to be eaten very hot. Food can be put away in the casserole without danger of changing color or taste, as would happen if it were left to chill in a metal vessel. The earthenware of which the dishes are made is not open to the acid influences of fruit and therefore is without the possibility of any noxious change. The enamel of the inside does not scale off, it is easily kept clean, and so food prepared in the casserole is clean and sweet.

The pretty mark for soupmaking, the larger and smaller pots and shallow pans and plates in every size can be bought. Among the many shades of These French make, which are very effective on the table. Some don't are involved in the proper care of the charming utensils.

Before using them for the first time the dishes should be soaked in cold water for some hours, as this will help to keep them from cracking on their first exposure to heat. Never put the vessels on the hot stove or in the oven without first putting in water or fat. Do not put them roughly on a metal surface or set them when hot on a wet table. A fierce heat is never desirable, and so, even if the flame of the top of the stove is low, it is best to put an asbestos mat under the vessel used.

Many more things for the preservation of these lovely cooking vessels might be said, and for young housekeepers and girls who want to learn how to cook in a dainty and perfect manner they are certainly more inspiring than the common cook pot, pan and kettle.

The Nursery Bib.

Away with the bib and its strings that will knot or the buttons that will not button! Here is the dearest little eating apron that ever covered dainty ruffles or Dickens suits, and when mother realizes what a very simple matter the making of such an apron can be she will hasten to fashion one for the littlest girl or boy in the nursery. A Turkish towel or a simple buff affair can be turned with a snip of the scissors and a few stitches into a comfortable, easily managed apron. At about two-thirds of the length of the towel cut a hole large enough for the little head to slip through. Bind this with tape or scallop it if you wish a little extra fanciness. The shorter side is then gathered or plaited into a belt, made from wide tape or a piece of old toweling, which passes around to the front and holds the apron in place. Cross stitch may make the little apron still more attractive, especially if the design be the favorite nursery chicks, bunnies or kittens. While the linen or buck toweling is prettier, the Turkish toweling is really more practical because of its absorbent qualities. It saves crying over spilt milk.

Oat Bread.

Make a sponge of four cupfuls rolled oats (dry), one-half cupful molasses, two cupfuls boiling water, scant table-spoonful of lard, one teaspoonful salt, one-half warm cake dissolved in a little lukewarm water. Add only part of the flour, then let rise overnight. Now add about four cupfuls flour and knead about fifteen minutes. Let rise until twice its size, form into loaves, let rise until its bulk is doubled, then bake about forty-five minutes. This makes two large loaves.

How to Drive Horses.

In making a long drive let the horses start out slowly for the first few miles. You can then increase their speed and the trip will be made in shorter time than if they had been driven fast at the start.—Farm and Fireside.

Economy Hints

How to Do Ironing Satisfactorily.

FIRST of all the irons must be immaculately clean and suited to the article to be ironed. Irons come now in all sizes, for all purposes.

Heat the irons slowly, but have them very hot before starting, even if they must be cooled later. Try them on a soft clean cloth.

The ironing sheet also must be clean. For fine lingerie cover the ordinary ironing sheet with thin material. For embroidery and lace use a Turkish towel, pinned tightly around the board.

To stiffen articles slightly without starch rub them on the wrong side with warm water and borax.

To clean the irons if starch sticks rub them over fine emery paper, then with a little paraffin wrapped in muslin. If an iron becomes rusty scrub it with hot water and soap, then rub it very lightly with lard. Wipe it carefully with absorbent cotton to remove all traces of the lard.

Never allow irons to get red hot, as it takes the temper out. Do not put a hot iron in water to cool it; stand it on one side for a few minutes.

It is unwise to put irons directly over the gas flame, as it spoils the iron. In the absence of a special device for holding them use an asbestos mat.

When possible colored goods should be ironed on the wrong side, then pressed on the right. This brings out the coloring. All wool underwear ought not to be ironed, as ironing causes it to shrink.

How to Cure Hiccups.

Hiccups can be as troublesome as any of the minor ills which aggravate mankind, but from time out of mind there has been a remedy for every ill, and hiccups share the lot of other ills in this respect.

One old cure for hiccups is this:—Take three or four preserved damsons in your mouth at a time and swallow them by degrees. A temptation to this would seem to be to children of another generation to have attacks of hiccups.

Water drinking often stops this trouble. The water should be slowly swallowed, not gulped down—swallowed like the damsons, by degrees.

The best water treatment is this:—Fill the mouth with cool water. Hold each forefinger over the lobe of the ear, closing it tight. Then swallow the water very slowly. If this operation is properly carried out it is almost sure to cure hiccups.

Still another remedy is sugar, and this acts like a charm with some persons. The sugar should be of the granulated sort, and a full teaspoonful should be taken at once. It should be swallowed slowly.

How to Keep Baby Covered.

Mothers since time immemorial have slept lightly of nights with the necessity of rousing often to draw the coverlets over restless little ones.

The active child simply will not lie quietly all night long, and the more active and beautiful it is the more do the little limbs kick and toss about in dreams. Many devices have been resorted to to keep the baby covered, but here is a contrivance that seems the best thing of the sort yet.

At the four corners of the quilt a little larger than the size of baby's crib are metal snap fasteners. Ribbons are sewed to the uprights of the crib in such a position that they cannot slip. It is the matter of a moment to snap the buttons fast, the coverlet being drawn so smoothly and snugly over the other bedding that only very strenuous kicking on the part of the child will disarrange it. The snap buttoned coverlet should be large enough to spread roomily over the mattress and bedding.

How to Clean Lace With Magnesia.

Very fine lace, when slightly soiled, can be beautifully cleaned in a preparation of block magnesia in which a small quantity of dry blueing has been sifted. Scrape the magnesia from the block, use dry blueing if obtainable, then coat the lace on both sides with the substance. Wrap it in several thicknesses of a folded towel and beat the towel lightly from end to end, side to side, and repeat until the lace is free from all dust.

This is an exceptionally successful method of cleaning Irish crochet and silk laces. When too badly soiled make a preparation of equal parts of gasoline and chloroform, containing a few drops of ammonia, and mix in this sufficient cornstarch to make a soft paste. Apply this to the lace, allow the cornstarch to dry thoroughly, then shake the lace free from dust. Very delicate lace yokes containing silver and gold threads, thimble or jewels can be cleaned without injury in this manner.

Getting Down to Cases.

"Let us have some plain talk," said the girl. "Am I to understand that you will take me around the world on the wedding trip?"—Philadelphia Bulletin.

DAVIS CUP FOR PARK TENNIS PLAYERS.

New York, March 2.—Dwight F. Davis, park commissioner of St. Louis, and doctor of the famous international tennis trophy, is here conferring with Park Commissioner Ward and Mayor Mitchell relative to donating a cup to stimulate tennis playing in the public parks of cities in the United States.

It is Mr. Davis' plan to offer a championship cup to be played for each year by park teams representing the various cities. It is planned to hold the first matches in St. Louis during the coming summer. His plan has been favorably received in Boston and other cities which he has visited.

Nelson as a Courtier.

Nelson was the hero of England even in his own time, but not apparently of the court. Samuel Rogers recounts a conversation with him which appears in the life of the poet by R. Ellis Roberts. "I heard him once during dinner," says Rogers, "utter many bitter complaints (which Lady Hamilton vainly attempted to 'cheek' of the way he had been treated at court that forenoon—the queen had not condescended to take the slightest notice of him. In truth, Nelson was hated at court; they were jealous of him." But then it must be remembered that Rogers was renowned as a particularly ill-natured gossip.

MRS. WILLARD TELLS OF PARIS IN WAR

Noted Woman Philanthropist Tells Kingston Circles of Mercy of the Need For the Work They Are Doing.

Undoubtedly no account of the present war has so stirred the people of Kingston as did the address given by Mrs. Mary Hatch Willard, for the Circles of Mercy at the chapel of the First Dutch Church on Saturday afternoon, last. The chapel was filled with men and women, desirous of hearing the direct message which Mrs. Willard was expected to bring of conditions in France and the audience was not disappointed. Mrs. Willard was introduced, for the Circles of Mercy, by Admiral Higginson, who told of her great work as the international chairman of the Surgical Dressings Committee and of her former philanthropic activity in Cuba at the time of the Spanish-American war.

Mrs. Willard is a cultured woman, who has been through great experiences and was possessed of the ability to describe those experiences most vividly.

She said at once that it was due to the women in the different centers all over the country, that the work she was about to describe was possible, and she considered her audience in the light of friends, not strangers, for all who helped in this humanitarian work were friends. This making of surgical dressings was the showing of one's love of humanity through their finger-tips, and as any one would do all they could to help a sick or wounded neighbor, so the imperative command was upon us to help our neighbors across the water, to whom and not to us this awful thing had come. The idea of this surgical dressings work came to Mrs. Willard, while walking down Fifth avenue, like a demand from the skies. Thinking of the awful need for surgical supplies, and the lack of them, it was forced upon her that the women of America should do as their grandmothers did, go to their trunks and chests and bureau drawers, and bring forth the old linen, muslin, etc., and make necessary dressings. She presented this idea to several friends among club women and instantly it was taken up and very soon the movement was organized. The Surgical Dressings Committee has now been actively and systematically engaged in this work for about a year. During that short period some 700 or 800 sub-committees like the one in Kingston had been formed and there is now at Paris a distributing bureau.

At Bordeaux there is another for Southern France, and it is expected to soon have another in operation in Italy and London. Some 4,000,000 of the dressings have been sent to these distributing bureaus, from them to be sent to the many hospitals as requisitioned. They can in this way reach the needed in 48 hours instead of from 6 weeks to 2 months, the time it took when there was no organization.

This winter Mrs. Willard decided to go over to Paris to see how the work was organized and progressing there and, after proving the intention backing her request for a passport she secured one and sailed for Paris on December 4. She told of the difficulty in securing passports, owing to the necessity of proving that one was going abroad for business reasons or on relief work, and not for any other purpose, as many seemed to think Americans did.

And the trip to Europe in war times was described as being very different from such a trip in times of peace. There was no gaiety of any sort, and no children were to be seen. As soon as possible, Mrs. Willard opened a work shop on ship-board, but the voyage was so rough and the travelers, for the most part so sick, that not a great deal was accomplished. But many interesting situations arose in connection with what was done. One Frenchman who had come to America to buy a large quantity of ammunition for the allies in order to kill men, did his share in making the surgical dressings to save the lives of others.

On arriving at Bordeaux she was welcomed by members of the committee there and much to her surprise was taken to visit the prefect of police, whom she later learned was the greatest man of the city, having more power than the mayor, whom she afterward met. He wished to thank her for the aid of the Americans. While in Bordeaux she was privileged to visit one of the hospitals, from which the main body of the soldiers had recently been discharged. Only a few convalescents remained, but those few were all busily engaged in making exquisite bead work of baskets, later to be sold for the good of the cause. The one thing that made a profound impression on Mrs. Willard was the look in the eyes of these men; an indescribable look, call it loyalty or patriotism or what, that went straight to the heart, and which having once been seen could never be forgotten. Another visit made in Bordeaux was to the school for the mutilated men of France; a school where these unfortunate might learn, at the expense of the government, to become self-supporting. Men minus right hands were learning to be stenographers with their left hands. Men with no legs were learning carpentering, book binding, etc., and all looked so eager and hopeful. The woman who taught basketry, herself had no hands. In this school the men were fed and housed and lived as in a boarding school, at the expense of the government.

Another visit that greatly impressed Mrs. Willard was to the building where were stored the surgical dressings for all the military hospitals. The enormous quantities of these dressings were almost beyond belief, there being literally millions of pounds of various supplies. In fact, so great was the quantity of these dressings that the speaker wondered if those made in America were, after all, not needed. On reaching Paris she learned that they were indeed needed, for the want of them was like a great enormous bottomless pit, into which any quantity of supplies could be poured by committee and even countries without ever filling it up. At one hospital they brought in 1,000 wounded a day for days, and there were hospitals everywhere. Such a situation has never arisen before in the history of the world, and the only way to give even a small measure of relief is by going on working and working and working and that as fast as possible. The distributing bureaus at Paris and Bordeaux supplied 400 hospitals in a short time.

While in Paris she had the great honor to visit the sister of the King of Belgium and to go with her to one of her hospitals. She set out for the audience with royalty, reminding herself of the need of "minding her manners," and showing that though an American she knew what was expected of her on such an occasion. Instead of formality of royalty, she was welcomed by the princess, as a splendid, noble woman, rather than a princess, and her hostess's first words gave expression to the deep gratitude of the French people for all that the American people were doing for them. They were soon visiting like old friends, and an appointment was made for the hospital visit, a day or so later. And that was a memorable day. On entering the hospital with the princess it was at once obvious that it was a visit from royalty, but royalty that was beloved. All of the physicians and nurses stood at attention, and where it was in any way possible for the men to get to their feet they, too, stood at attention. Those in the beds were propped up and saluted. The ladies took with them little Christmas gifts for the wounded soldiers, and Mrs. Willard had also taken with her a large quantity of tiny American flags. She asked if one of the flags might accompany each gift, and was told it might. All of the men were delighted with both the gifts and the flags and before they left the hospital every physician, nurse, patient, orderly and cook, smilingly wore an American flag. Everywhere gratitude sincere was expressed for the aid given the wounded through the American women. One lad of eighteen wore the badge of military honor, because he had carried off from the field of battle a wounded officer. Another lad of nineteen who had been operated upon six times, smilingly heard the nurses tell Mrs. Willard that they were going to operate once more in the hope of saving his legs. He had been wounded in the battle of the Champagne, and smiled as he told of the goodness of the doctors and nurses. The smile was almost more than Mrs. Willard could bear, and for she gave him a bunch of violets she wore, and she tried to smile back at him as bravely as he had smiled. Everywhere in the wards the men were busy as at the other hospitals, making baskets, or bead work. The highest tribute was paid by the speaker to the mothers of France who saw their boys go off to the war with a smile of encouragement and never a tear. Paris was quiet and very dignified, and on every hand Mrs. Willard was impressed with the quiet seriousness and poise of the reputed gay Paris folk. This sense of poise was still more impressed upon her by a private audience which she was granted with the French Minister of War. In the huge war office there was no confusion, no excitement, all was quiet and orderly. The audience with the head of the war department of Paris, was held in his private residence. He was a dignified, gracious elderly man who at once expressed his profound gratitude to America for the help of this country. He was solicitous that Mrs. Willard should make known to the people of America, that the people of France are no longer gay and frivolous but strong and courageous and ready to fight to the end. When the Germans were at the gates of Paris, the American Ambassador was by and at once extended his hand to the French minister, who said he felt it to express the friendship of the United States. During the short conference, there was no ringing of telephones, no commotion, and there seemed time to do quietly whatever needed to be done. At that time, the French armies were fighting but sixty miles away. Again there was that poise and confidence of winning eventually.

The last visit described was to one of the military depots, where the convalescents gather to be sent back to the trenches. It was a most dismal place, with no comforts whatever. Here, too, gifts and flags were given, also post cards of the high buildings of New York city which greatly interested the men. Mrs. Willard saw an entire body of men leave for the front, to return to active service. One woman in France, a former belle (before the war) is at the head of this committee which weekly visits these depots. In fact all work is systematically divided between groups of women in Paris, when no woman sits and holds her hands.

ABOUT 300,000 BABIES DIE BEFORE ONE YEAR

The Census Bureau estimates that 300,000 babies died in this country last year before the age of one year, and it is stated that one-half of these deaths were needless if all mothers were strong and infants were breast-fed.

Expectant mothers should strive to increase their strength with the strength-building fats in Scott's Emulsion which improves the blood, suppresses nervousness, aids the quality of milk, and feeds the very life cells.

It was hard to see how there could be women in America sitting with folded hands or idly playing cards, etc., when one heard what Mrs. Willard told of the endless need for the surgical dressings. Out of love for humanity she begged for more help in this work, not alone for our neighbors across the water, but those who should be doing it, we might be prepared to do the same work for our own men. Those who heard Mrs. Willard will appreciate how inadequate any report of her address must be, and it is hoped they will tell others of the need she expressed. Every Thursday morning the Circles of Mercy, the body of women doing this work in this city, meet at the Y. M. C. A. building, and make these dressings. But they need the help of many more pairs of hands. Any girl or woman, yes or all man, who can give of their time is urged to join in this work. It is not necessary to be a member of any of the Circles of Mercy, all that is needed is the willingness to help and the presenting oneself at the Y. M. C. A. to help, on Thursday mornings.

SAFEST and BEST

FROM now on, the Standard Oil Company of New York's best grade of refined oil will be sold by name—SOCONY (So-CO-ny) Kerosene Oil.

It was the Standard Oil Company which was responsible for making kerosene a safe and reliable fuel in the early days of the petroleum industry.

Today SOCONY, which is the trademarked name we have given to our best grade of kerosene, represents the last word in the refining of kerosene oil.

All kerosene is not alike by any means. And the good kind is enough better to be decidedly worth asking for. If you want the most heat from your stoves and heaters, most light from your lamps and lanterns, with complete freedom from smoke and odor, order SOCONY Kerosene by name.

Dealers who carry genuine SOCONY Kerosene Oil display the SOCONY sign in their windows. Look for this sign. It is the sign of quality and the world's best kerosene.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MARCH 2, 1916.

The unofficial Democratic State Convention at Syracuse has come and gone. It was a lovely gathering, marred by no cross words on the part of the Tammany or up-State delegates. This was the result of "preparedness," the whole program having been cut and dried in advance by the leaders. In the selection of delegates to the National Convention great acumen was displayed. Senator O'Gorman was named to catch the Irish vote, Samuel Undermyer to attract the Jewish vote, George J. Meyer to please the German vote, and William Church Osborn as a sop to the highbrow and native sons vote. Besides, four alternates were named, of whom we never heard before, but who were put on, we presume, to catch the ignorant masses who come under no special classification. The big feature of the occasion was Former Governor Glynn's reply to Former Senator Root's recent "keynote" speech. Glynn tried hard to be a unlocker himself, but his keys seem to have unlocked nothing. The gist of what he said was that President Wilson is a great man because he has kept the country out of war, that the sad events in Mexico cannot be justly cited against Wilson because Taft didn't clean up the situation during the last few months of his administration, and that the Underwood tariff has brought great prosperity to the country. As our readers are too well informed to become impressed by such arguments, we will not waste space in commenting upon them. Neither do we expect that Senator Root will say anything. Why use a pile-driver to kill a mouse?

Apart from his having started life as a newsboy and subsequently branching out as tondry helper and farm hand, from which obscure places he rose to a prominent position on the highest court of the state, the career of Associate Judge William E. Werner of the Court of Appeals, whose death occurred Wednesday, is chiefly notable for the high courage which marked his attitude on the recall of judicial decisions. It was in the presidential campaign of 1912 that the Progressive party doctrine favoring recall of judicial decisions incurred the vigorous denunciation of Judge Werner. This attitude won for him the bitter enmity of Colonel Roosevelt, who, as Governor, had first designated Judge Werner an Associate Judge. Roosevelt attacked Judge Werner for his decision in the Ives case, the first test of the workmen's compensation principle in this State, which declared the law unconstitutional. Because of his stand on these two questions, Judge Werner was made the target of Roosevelt's opposition when a candidate for Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals, being defeated by Chief Judge Willard Bartlett. Time, however, has vindicated the dead jurist on both counts of the Roosevelt indictment. Recall of judicial decisions is a dead letter while the Ives case ruling guided the legislature into passing a constitutional statute. But to Werner fell the humiliation of defeat because of a conscientious stand for what he believed, and which afterward proved to be right. His death removes an able and upright jurist who was an ornament to the bench of our highest court.

The benefits of co-operation between shippers were made patent at the recent meeting between fruit growers on the west shore of the river between Kingston and New York and New York Central railroad officials. A plan was projected which meant a fast freight service for perishable fruit in the territory affected and will cut the cost of marketing far below present charges, an item bound to be appreciated by consumer as well as producer. The shipping is to be by carload lots with the shippers acting as a unit, thus making necessary an organization to meet requirements. With one shipper and one consignee to deal with, the railroad will be able to give its lowest rate, while the convenience of all concerned will be served thereby. This is merely another illustration of the need of organization to meet the requirements of modern marketing and the avoidance of high express charges. In effect, it means that a co-operative system must be employed if Ulster county producers are to realize the profit to which they are entitled, of which so large a proportion now goes to the middleman and the transportation agencies. In touch with the greatest market of the world and producing fruit of unrivalled quality, Ulster growers cannot but find that a united front in shipping as well as selling will be most valuable, and this co-operative marketing scheme needs but a season's operation to demonstrate its usefulness.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"A man dat's workin' hard tryin' to reform hisself," said Uncle Eben, "don't seem to get much in the way of encouragement and applause as de man dat gits up on a platform an' scolds folks in general."—Washington Star.

Father—"I want to tell you this, my son; the secret of success is hard work." Son—"If it's a secret, dad, you shouldn't have told it. Fortunately, I'm too foolish to be a gentleman to take advantage of information gained in that way."—Boston Transcript.

"How did Crimson Gulch happen to vote for prohibition?" "Well," replied Three Finger Sam, "so many of the boys got tired of own money to the saloons that they thought the best thing to do was to put 'em out of business."—Washington Star.

Betwixt and Between.

"Mrs. Philip Snowden, the English peace propagandist, was talking at a tea on her recent visit to New York, about the war.

"Our Scottish soldiers," said Mrs. Snowden, "who were sent to France in the beginning of the war, attracted so much attention on account of their national costume that for a time their lives were made miserable for them. The short kilts and the bare knees of the Scottish regiments, made a sensation among the French who saw this odd costume for the first time."

"There is a story apropos," she said.

"A certain very pretty and very smart French countess had allowed herself to be persuaded by her Rue de la Paix dressmaker to have one of the extremely short skirts of the 1916 fashion made for her new walking suit. Putting it on fearfully one morning, for her husband's inspection she said nervously:

"How do you like my skirt, dear?"

"The count answered good-naturedly enough:

"Well, my pet, I suppose it's all right; but isn't it a bit too long for a kilt?"—New York Telegraph.

Artful Dodger.

"And what did my little son learn from this incident?"

"Oh a mouse," Miss Wilcox told us all about mouses."

"That's the boy! Now, how do you spell 'mouse'?"

It was then that Arthur gave promise of being an artful dodger. He named meditatively for a moment then said:

"Father, I guess I was wrong. It wasn't a mouse teacher was telling us about. It was a rat."—Harper's Magazine.

A Compliment.

What John G. Johnson, Philadelphia lawyer, regards as the highest compliment ever paid to his legal skill was recounted at a lawyers' dinner in the Quaker city.

An engineering case in Pittsburgh, relative to certain defective boiler work roused great interest among the local boiler makers, who crowded the court every day.

When Mr. Johnson, on the last day was addressing the court for the plaintiffs, a foreman boiler maker came in and sat down beside the principal of the plaintiff firm, whom he knew well. After Mr. Johnson had dealt very acutely and exhaustively with abstruse technical details and with all manner of odd shop customs, the foreman turned to his neighbor and whispered:

"Who's that feller talkin' to the judge?"

"That's John G. Johnson, our counsel," was the reply.

"What?" roared the foreman. "Do you mean to tell me that feller's only a lawyer? Get out with you! He knows too much for that." Here his voice mounted so high that the judge caught him and looked up. "I tell ye that feller's a boiler maker!"—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Walter Bill to Amend Fish and Game Laws Covers a General Revision of Many Features.

A requirement that every hunter wear on his coat a button giving the number of his license, providing for taking dogs into the forest preserve under a license to be issued by the Conservation Commission, and a broadening of the regulations regarding the importing of lawfully killed game into the state of New York, are the chief points in a bill amending the Conservation Law generally, which was introduced concurrently in the senate and assembly by Senator Charles W. Walton and Assemblyman H. Edmund Machold, chairman of the Conservation Committees of both houses.

The bill, which is the result of careful collaboration during the last two months between the Conservation Commission and the chairman of the two committees, makes in all about twenty-five other changes in the game laws.

The failure of the holder of a hunting license to wear his hunting button in a conspicuous place on his clothing at all times when hunting, trapping or taking wild animals shall cause a forfeiture of his license, according to the provisions of the bill.

It is stipulated, however, that no other or additional penalty than the forfeiture of his license shall be imposed, and this forfeiture shall not prevent such a person from procuring another license.

License to take a dog into the forest preserves is to be issued by the Conservation Commission in its discretion and under such rules and regulations as it may deem advisable. A metal tag bearing the number of the license is to be attached to the collar and worn by the dog at all times. No dog is to run at large in the Adirondack or Catskill Parks, or in forests inhabited by deer, unless accompanied by the owner.

Under the provisions of this section it will hereafter be possible for owners of bird, rabbit and fox dogs to hunt with them in the forest preserve. The owner, however, is made responsible for the actions of his dog at all times.

Importation of fish and game from without the state, which under the present law is allowed only between the 1st of September and the 1st of January following, is permitted under a section of the proposed new law at all times when such game may lawfully be transported from the state where taken. Game or fish so imported during the closed season in New York state can be brought in only under an importation license issued by the commission, but during the open season in this state no such license is required. If shipped by common carrier, shipping permits issued by the commission must be attached.

A more rational system for the rating and compensation of game protectors is provided, by stipulating that each protector who shall have been rated in the first grade for the year shall receive increased salary at the rate of $50 per year for every year in which he shall attain that grade, until his salary amounts to $1,300, but with the further provision that the commission shall have the power to cancel the whole, or any part, of these increases upon the failure of any protector to qualify for the first grade in any year.

Free distribution of a syllabus of the game laws, as well as the laws, at the cost of publication, of the complete text of the Conservation Law in relation to fish and game.

The open season on deer is extended to that portion of Lewis and Jefferson counties lying west of the Ulster and Black River Railroad, which was heretofore closed. Possession of deer or venison, under a license to be issued by the Conservation Commission, is allowed until February 1st, instead of to the former date limit of January 1st.

Another section provides for the breeding of varying hares and cotton-tail rabbits in captivity and for buying and selling them for food purposes at any time, under a license to be issued by the commission.

The bill further provides that mink and sable may be taken either in the day time or at night, and in any manner, and possessed, from November 10th to March 15th, instead of from November 16th to April 20th, as heretofore.

The open seasons for game birds remains unchanged, but provision is made for possession of game birds for an additional period of five days immediately following the open season.

The closed season on yellow perch in Oneida Lake is removed and the taking, sale and purchase of these fish from that lake is permitted at all times.

The law against the taking of scallops less than one year old is strengthened by bringing under its prohibition scallops taken from planted or cultivated oyster lands.

Other sections of the bill deal with molesting, penalties and minor changes in the Conservation Law.

CANARY COLORED WORKINGMEN

State Steps in For Health of Wappingers Falls Dyers.

Representatives of the Division of Industrial Hygiene, State Labor Department, have ordered the Standard Aniline Products Company of Wappingers Falls, to have a doctor at the plant each day to examine workers to see that they do not become anemic from working in the dye materials. Residents of the village made complaint because of the canary-colored hue of the skin and hair of workers in the paraffin-like department of the plant.

Improvements in ventilation have also been ordered at the plant.

March Bargains

Here we are in March and that means that the opening of the automobile season is just a few weeks off. Two sets of people can profit by reflection on this fact—the owner who wishes to dispose of a good but used car and the man who wants a good car, but does not feel that he can afford a new one.

The fact is that hundreds are profiting by this March bargain season right now and the way they are profiting is by selling, or buying cars through the instrumentality of the Want Ads.

Get your auto for the summer through the list of March auto bargains in the Want Columns.

BONE GRAFTING SUCCESSFUL.

Walden Child Given New Fibula Through Surgical Skill.

One of the most remarkable cases of successful bone grafting that has ever been known in this vicinity is the case of seven year old Elizabeth Rusk, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Rusk, of Scofield street, Walden, according to the Walden Citizen Herald.

The child, who was born with an undeveloped fibula, would in all probability have had to lose her limb by amputation in the course of a few years had she not had the operation of bone grafting. This delicate operation was performed October a year ago by the nationally famous orthopedic surgeon, Dr. Fred H. Albee of New York city, at the Post Graduate Hospital there. Bone, taken from the healthy tibia of the well leg, was grafted to the undeveloped fibula of the other limb with the result that the little girl is today running around with scarcely so much as a limp in her walk.

Last Wednesday to see Dr. Albee when an X-ray photo was taken of the grafted bone which showed a perfect result, in spite of the fact that last summer the limb had been severely fractured in a fall.

MOMBACCUS HEIGHTS.

Mombaccus Heights, March 2.—Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McNair of Accord spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew M. Green. Leonard Van Etten attended a meeting of the town board at Accord on Saturday.

The usual monthly service was held in the Reformed Chapel on Sunday. We are pleased to announce that Mrs. Frank Lounsbury was not as seriously injured by her fall as was first reported and is recovering nicely.

Tuesday and Wednesday were very pleasant and a great many were out taking advantage of the seighing and fine weather.

F. P. Smith took James Lennon for a seigh ride and to call on a doctor at Kerhonkson Wednesday.

Leonard Van Etten dined with the Rev. and Mrs. A. Quick on Tuesday.

The writer's attention has been called to the fact by indignant taxpayers that it was owing to improperly opened drifts—that means no shoveling at all in certain localities—that was responsible for the accident in which Joel Lennon was the victim and caused another man to upset with a load of wood. Those in authority should see that the work is properly done.

The penny seed collection in charge of the school is well patronized in this district.

The teaming of logs, excelsior and pulp wood goes merrily on. The sleighing wasn't damaged much by the heavy rain on Friday last.

There are indications that there will be some new buildings going up in this place in the spring.

The Rev. A. Quick is feeding no less than ten bluejays at present and is beginning to fear that the supply will not exceed the demand if they keep multiplying at that rate.

James Lennon is ill and in a rather serious condition.

Miss Edna McDonald, accompanied by her father, returned to Kingston Tuesday to resume treatment.

Miss Olive Smith spent a few days last week with her sister, Mrs. George Thomas.

Joel Lennon is confined to the house by a painfully injured foot, caused by a heavily loaded sleigh passing over it. It is a great misfortune to the family and they have the sympathy of all their neighbors.

Miss Edna McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hartelius, Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. Leonard Van Etten and Frank Lounsbury were among those who called at the Lennon home recently.

The Freeman failed to put in an appearance Tuesday, causing great disappointment in the majority of homes in this place.

F. P. Smith and two sons spent Monday forenoon cutting wood for the afflicted Lennon family; on Tuesday Walter Wright and George Hartelius cut and hauled several loads from the woods.

METTACAHONTS.

Mettacahonts, March 2.—Mrs. S. E. Churchwell left on Tuesday for a stay of several days at the home of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. James Morris on Park street, Ellenville.

Many young people from this place are in attendance at the meetings at Whitfield this week, led by Mr. Frost.

Mr. and Mrs. John Markle of Whitfield called on their niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Eli Oster, houndt, on Tuesday afternoon.

Edgar Mackey is drawing wood for Joseph Hendrickson from Mr. Mackey's wood lot.

Virgil Wood and Tom Connor were to Ellenville on Monday with a load of hay for Jesse Osterhoudt.

William Wood has been seriously ill during the week. He is not working yet, as he hasn't fully recovered. His many friends hope he will soon get better.

Mr. Muskowitz returned home the latter part of last week from Bayonne, N. J., where he has spent the winter. He plans on remaining home and going extensively in the chicken business.

Dr. Burger, who has been ill, is slowly recovering.

Miss Pearl Enderly, after several days' visit out of town, has returned to this place.

Mrs. Rachel Hornbeck called on Mrs. Permelia Beemer on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Joseph Miller enjoyed a fine sleigh ride on Wednesday morning.

El Osterhoudt has already received large orders for hatching eggs for the coming season.

Miss Bessie Wood spent some time the past week at the home of her brother, Will Wood.

Mrs. Russell Miller and son, Clifton, were out calling on Tuesday afternoon.

Elmer B. Hendrickson is busily employed sawing wood.

One of the small children of Mr. Lang swallowed a nut off a bolt last Monday.

Koss Miller is home from Delaware county for a brief visit at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Miller.

Cutting Expenses.

Knicker—Are you cutting down expenses? Mrs. Knicker—Yes; I am paying only half the bills—Puck.

WILSON DEMANDS A TEST VOTE

Chairman Flood Makes Assertion That He Has the Votes For An Adverse Report But He Does Not Deliver Them.

By Telegram to The Freeman
Washington, March 2.—"I want a test vote on the McLeomere resolution and believe that the country wants to know how congress stands on it," was the message given Chairman Flood of the house foreign affairs committee by President Wilson today. The president made his position clear in a conversation over the phone that was substituted for the previously arranged conference at the White House.

Flood told the president that he believed the resolution, which specifically warns American citizens not to travel on armed merchant ships can be reported by his committee. The committee would have voted 10 to 9 adversely to report the resolution to the house for action last yesterday, Flood told the president, according to Secretary Tumulty, had the vote been forced.

Just when the foreign affairs committee will act Flood told the White House he did not know. The meeting called for 10:30 today was postponed until 3 o'clock this afternoon with a possibility that another postponement might become necessary. Although the White House claims that Flood assured the president that he had the votes to get action, individual members of the committee did not take this view. On the contrary all who could be reached said they did not believe they see any cause for immediate action. It was also reported that the president told Chairman Flood that at the present time he saw no reason why either he or Secretary Lansing should appear before the committee or congress.

COUNTRESS ELEANOR GYZICKA, COUNTESS, PARTED FROM HUSBAND, WISHES TO BE CALLED "MRS. GYZICKA."

Washington, March 2.—Countess Gyzicka, who wishes to be known in the future as Mrs. Eleanor Gyzicka, is the daughter of Mrs. Robert Patterson of Chicago and Washington. She married her foreign titled husband about twelve years ago. Eventually she separated from him and returned to America, and with her small daughter has been living with Mrs. Patterson.

Countess Gyzicka first made plain her desire to be known as plain "Mrs." when she advertised the loss of a $1,000 diamond earring the other day.

VETERANS BECOME P.O.S.A. MEMBERS

Wednesday evening more than 200 people witnessed the public administration of obligation to 32 veterans of the Civil War who were taken into the membership of Washington Camp, No. 2, Patriotic Order of the Sons of America, as honorary members. The auditorium of Mechanics' Hall on Henry street, where the ceremonies were held, was beautifully decorated with American flags and the room was filled by an audience of friends and relatives of the members of the order and of the veterans who were deeply impressed by the evening's program.

The ladies of Camp No. 30, the ladies' auxiliary of the men's camp, marched to the hall led by the little Misses Ella Port and Edna Merritt, who were attired in the national colors. The veterans then entered amid the hearty applause of the audience.

E. J. Nichols, vice president of Washington Camp, presided. Chaplain Drake of the G. A. R. offered the invocation. Mayor Canfield, who was to have held the position of presiding officer sent a letter of regret in which he expressed his disappointment in not being present but law business in Albany prevented his attending the meeting.

Counselor Francis C. Merritt announced the program and presented the speakers during the evening. Miss Flora Bonesteel delighted all with the patriotic song, "America, I Love You." The first speaker was Schuyler Van Ness, district president of Hempstead, L. I., who told some very funny stories.

State Vice-president H. Willard Griffiths, also of Hempstead, L. I., previous to administering the obligation to the veterans of the G. A. R., delivered an eloquent address, faultless in its delivery and far reaching in its effect on the audience. He briefly gave the history of the organization prior to the Civil War and told how the members of the order were so filled with the ardor of patriotism that only one camp was left of all those which were in existence before the great struggle. Philadelphia was the home of the first camp which was organized in 1847. Formerly only youths under the age of 21 were allowed to be taken into membership and red blooded sons of the country they were. The order now boasts 250,000 members throughout the United States, scattered through every state of the union. The speaker said that in the states of Pennsylvania and New Jersey the P. O. S. A. have become so strong that they have had a major part in shaping the just laws of the states. The speaker in a forceful manner showed how the principles of the order coincided with the constitution of the country. During his address Mr. Griffiths was warmly applauded. After the obligation had been administered by the state vice-president, Brother Van Ness, in behalf of the local camp presented the speaker with a gold pocket knife upon which were inscribed Mr. Griffiths' name and the date of the occasion.

Major William Vallette, of the G. A. R., introduced Major Tanner, who presented to the camp two valuable photographs of the Old 20th Regiment. The 20th Regiment on the court house steps at Culpepper, Va., is one of the pictures while the other is a representation of a group of the officers of the regiment. Mr. Merritt said that the pictures would always be cherished by the camp and thanked the veterans for their gift.

Frederick Snyder gave a short speech in which he rendered a version of P. O. S. A., saying that it may be construed to mean "Patriotism only means the saving of America." He gave several amusing jokes of the war which were most entertaining.

Mrs. Nichols, on behalf of the Ladies' Auxiliary, presented a gavel to Washington Camp, the head of which was constructed of wood secured on Old Round Top. The beautiful "Perfect Day" was sung by Albert Rich, accompanied by George Semon at the piano. Mr. Rich was obliged to respond to an encore.

Monroe Terwilliger, state master of forms, who was asked to be one of the speakers, sent a letter expressing his regret because of another engagement.

Although the time for closing the program was drawing near, the short period in which Rev. William Seiple of Alligerville spoke seemed but a minute, so entertaining was his talk. In his wide experience and extended travels through the world he has seen proof of the never failing patriotism of Americans and related several amusing incidents in which foreigners predicted dire results for the United States from the Spanish war. An admiral of a fleet of the navy when confronted with the question of what he would do if 25,000 Spanish landed in New York harbor calmly answered, "Why, sir, we would call out the police."

Rev. William Austin of Esopus, who led a delegation from the camp from that town, presented his view of the principles of the order. Chaplain A. T. Drake recited a patriotic poem and the meeting was brought to a close by Rev. Austin H. Haynes, who pronounced the benediction. Refreshments were served after the program was completed.

Inconsistent.

Great Runner Does Not Take Pessimistic View of Outlook.

Believes That Within Year or Two Another Crop of Fast Ones Will Come Along — Distancers Show Much Improvement.

George V. Bonhag, probably the greatest long-distance runner ever developed on the American cinder path, does not take a pessimistic view of the present condition of the distance game.

"I believe," he said, "that it is purely a question of cycles. Just at present there is a lull, where a few years ago we were turning out fast distance men by the dozen. Probably within a year or two another crop of fast ones will come along. One thing is certain, our distancers, as a class, have improved marvelously in the last decade."

"What we need now," continued Bonhag, "is a distance champion coming from the ranks. He will take to running fast and set a standard. The boys who will try to beat him will gradually work up to that standard, and when they have reached it the real champion will move along to a still faster level. I know it was that way when I was coming along at my best. The last year I was running fast there were a dozen men who could smother the performance I did when I first won the two-mile championship."

"Had Hannes Kolehmainen developed in this country, running against our distancers, the chances are that he would have carried half a dozen of our men along with him, and as a result we would have had just so many runners capable of running closer to him than we now have."

George V. Bonhag.

Bonhag saw Jole Ray, the sturdy Chicagoan, run for the first time at the New York Athletic club games and he was greatly struck with the national mile champion's ability. "If that boy ever learns to judge his pace properly 4 minutes and 10 seconds will be possible for him," was Bonhag's comment. Recently Ray ran his first 220 yards around 26 seconds, after which he slowed down, finishing with a terrific quarter sprint at the end.

BIG REVIVAL OF TURF GAME

Trotting Has Been Regaining Its Lost Popularity—Boom Predicted for This Season.

There promises to be a big revival of the turf game during the year. In many of the states where racing was abolished a few years ago, there is a concerted movement on foot to bring about a revival. In those states where racing is permitted the meets promise to be much classier in 1916, owing to the fact that there have been imported many of the greatest ponies that used to run on the European tracks.

The trotting game has been regaining its lost popularity during the past few years and 1916 is freighted with the promise of even greater success in the grand circuit affairs and also on the little tracks, than were the 1914 and 1915 seasons.

Percy is Harvard's Strong Man.
George A. Percy, the hockey star who holds the Harvard university strongest man honor, weighs only 160 pounds and is about five feet ten inches tall. Percy won the honor by his skill in chinning and dipping on the parallel bars. Percy chinned himself 31 times and dipped 81 times, thereby registering a new record in the college for these feats. His total points was 1,442.4.

Brown is Elected President.
Innis Brown, sporting editor of the Atlanta Journal, has been elected president of the Georgia-Alabama league, succeeding C. L. Bruner. Brown formerly a star football player at Vanderbilt university, is well informed on all matters pertaining to sport, and should make the circuit a good executive officer.

OTTO H. KAHN.

OTTO H. KAHN TO HAVE BIG COUNTRY ESTATE.

New York, March 2.—Otto H. Kahn, the banker, will have one of the most imposing country estates in America at Cold Spring Harbor, L. I.

Nearly $500,000 has been spent by him in accumulating the land, which embraces several old farms, 350 acres in all. He began the operation a year and a half ago. More than 100 men are at work on the landscaping effects, and his architects have completed plans for buildings to cost $1,000,000.

At the highest point of the big tract will stand an enormous three-story house of brick and stone, 250 x 200 feet. It alone will cost $800,000. The foundation work has been under way for several months, the cost below ground reaching $150,000. Garages, keepers' lodges and a series of outbuildings will cost $200,000. A feature of the estate will be a large golf course.

Old Hickory.

ROSENDALE.

Rosendale, March 2.—The net proceeds of the oyster supper held in the Reformed Church on Tuesday last was $26.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Wood spent Wednesday with relatives in Kingston.

Mrs. Alvah Minard of New Paltz and William Freer of Poughkeepsie visited their parents, Russell Freer and wife, the past week.

The missionary meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Deputy Davis on Wednesday evening.

Miss Jennie Lefever has been spending a few days the past week with Miss Anna Clifton in Poughkeepsie.

Relatives from this village attended the funeral of Mrs. Jesse Deyo on Friday.

Leander Schoonmaker and sister of Maple Hill have moved in the Ten-Hagen cottage on lower Main street.

Mrs. Philip Driscoll has returned from a visit with relatives in Poughkeepsie.

Mrs. William Bullis and son are visiting in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Abel Black visited friends in Eddyville on Sunday.

Bert Leinfelder has left the Koniski factory and has secured a position in Kingston.

A number from this village attended the auction at Al. Aggar's at LeFever Falls on Saturday last. Mr. Aggar expects to soon leave for Ohio, where he has a position.

It is rumored the Clifton cottage at Lawrenceville is in the hands of a real estate dealer of this village for sale.

Mrs. Harry Wilkins was called to New York the past week on account of the death of her sister.

A play entitled "Packing the Missionary Barrel," will be given in the near future by several ladies of the village in the Reformed Church. Save up your dimes so as to be able to enjoy this rare treat.

The ladies (some of them) when they attended school were considered fine amateur performers. Watch out for the date.

Harry TenHagen of Poughkeepsie spent the week end with his father.

Miss McHugh of Kingston is a guest of Mrs. Julia Geoffrey at "The Stanhope."

Mrs. Rose Hayden has recovered from an attack of the grip.

Mrs. Jason Connors and Master Osborn of Walden have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Emory Lewis on Main street.

Walter Bodley, Sr., and Charles Tranker left for Connecticut on Sunday where they expect to have positions.

Mr. and Mrs. Cy. Camfield went to Kingston on Tuesday to spend a few days with relatives.

Mrs. Lafora, who has been suffering with an abscess in her head, went to Kingston on Sunday for treatment.

Mr. Markus, who recently purchased a home on Depot Hill, has sold out and returned to New York on Monday.

Mrs. Grant Russell still remains in very poor health.

The Misses Elizabeth Terpening and Helen Sutcliffe of New Paltz spent Tuesday night with the Misses Mullany and attended the masquerade in All Saints' parish house.

There was a fair attendance at the masquerade on Tuesday evening last and everybody present had a good time. A number were masked and after the grand march when masks were removed there were a number of surprised spectators. A number from Kingston were present. It was a financial success.

How He Got Even.
"Getting even" is a hazardous undertaking. A Philadelphia lawsuit, originally involving less than $200, ended a long course through the courts with costs aggregating over $13,000. The plaintiff got the $200 sued for, but his lawyer's bill was $1,700. He is $1,500 to the bad, but he has "got even," for the other fellow had a lot more to pay.—Christian Herald.

The Function of Advertising

Advertising is a vital force in the problem of distribution.

But to be nearly 100 per cent efficient it must be linked to the selling end of the business.

Manufacturers are turning to newspaper advertising because it ties up with the men who sell their goods—the retail dealers.

Retailers are not only newspaper readers but they directly feel the effects of newspaper advertising.

They are cordial to products when manufacturers advertise them in the newspapers.

Miss Doty Reinstated.

A petition signed by most of the students of Meran's Business School asking that Miss Doty, stenography teacher, who resigned last Friday, be returned to the teaching staff of the school resulted in her resuming duty this week. Miss Doty, after resigning, decided to teach pupils in stenography and typewriting independently but when the pupils of the Meran School heard of it they at once circulated the petition.

Small Fire at Station.

Several matters of importance in regard to the coming auto show at the armory the latter part of this month were discussed at the meeting of the executive committee last night at the Eagle Hotel. It is certain that Governor Whitman will speak on the opening night, Thursday, March 30, and Secretary of State Francis M. Hugo will also lend prestige to the show, delivering an address the following night.

From the hotel where the governor will stop he will be escorted to the armory by Company M, led by a band. Mayor Campbell will open the show Thursday night and the governor's address will follow. The chief executive of the state will be entertained after the show at a banquet given by the Ulster County Automobile Association at the Kingsvansant. Among others, the president and secretary of the New York state association will be asked to speak at the banquet.

Secretary of State Hugo will be the principal speaker on Tuesday's program and an automobile parade will also be a conspicuous feature of that night's events. There is no doubt that a large number of cars will be in line. Arrangements for the last night of the show have not yet been completed but will be announced later.

People from an extensive territory will be present at the show, the railroads running special trains and perhaps reducing their rates for the occasion. With the novelty of having an auto exhibition in Kingston and with bargains by local merchants a magnet for crowds, there is little doubt that there will be crowds in town resembling those of circus days. An advertising campaign will be launched by the committee at a time when they think that it will bring results. Fifty cars inside the armory and several trucks outside the drill shed will be on exhibition, together with auto accessories of all kinds.

Season tickets admitting the bearer to the three shows are being sold by the auto dealers and members of the association for fifty cents while the single admission will be twenty-five cents. Season tickets will also be sold at the armory while the show is in progress.

THE WORD "JEHOVAH."

Its Curious Origin Which, by the Way, Is Comparatively Modern.

An interesting feature in "The Old Testament in the Light of Today," by William Frederic Bauer, professor of Old Testament literature and Semitic languages in the Pacific Theological seminary, the following explanation of the word "Jehovah":

"The name 'Jehovah' is of recent origin. It was quite unknown in antiquity. As G. F. Moore has shown, it occurs for the first time sporadically in the fourteenth century. The word arose in a peculiar way. Until some centuries after the Christian era the text of the Hebrew Scriptures was written with consonants only. The name of the deity therefore was written with the four consonants 'Jhvh.' As Hebrew ceased to be a spoken tongue, words written consonantly began to present difficulties to readers. This fact led to the invention of systems of vowel points, which were written under and above the consonants.

Long before the invention of vowel points it had become customary, on account of dread of the name of the deity, to read 'Adonay' (Lord) wherever 'Jhvh' occurred. To indicate this fact the vowels of 'Adonay' were connected with the consonants 'Jhvh,' the short 'A' of 'Adonay' by a regular change becoming 'i' when connected with the consonant 'J.' Persons ignorant of the purpose of the vowels began to read them with the consonants, and thus the preposterous hybrid 'Jehovah' arose."

The pilots regarded him as a great reader—a student of history, travels and the sciences. In the association rooms they often saw him poring over serious books.

He began the study of French one day in New Orleans when he discovered a school of languages where French, German and Italian were taught, one in each of three rooms. The price was $25 for one language or three for $50. The student was provided with a set of conversation cards for each and was supposed to walk from one apartment to another, changing his nationality at each threshold.

The young pilot, with his usual enthusiasm, invested in all three languages, but after a few round trips decided that French would do. He did not return to the school, but kept the cards and added textbooks. He studied faithfully when off watch and in port, and his old river notebook, still preserved, contains a number of advanced exercises neatly written out.

England's Greatest Mine Fire.

The most serious colliery fire ever known in Britain was undoubtedly that which broke out in the Tawd valley mine, near Preston, in 1872. Thousands of pounds were spent in trying to get the flames under control, but they overcame everything and consumed some millions of tons of coal. A wall ten feet in thickness was built round the affected parts, but the heat cracked the masonry and brought it down as fast as it was rebuilt. However, in 1887 the river Tawd overflowed its banks and went pouring down into the mine. No fire could withstand such an immense volume of water hurled upon it, and although the flames extended for 500 yards they were quenched after having raged for a quarter of a century.—London Tit-Bits.

Preservative Peat.

Peat possesses wonderful antiseptic and preservative qualities owing to the presence of tannin, iron and other substances in it. Here is an instance: At the time of the covenants, in 1685, three men were shot at a place called Crossgelloch, on the moor above Old Cunnock, in Scotland. In 1825, when a monument was being erected to their memory, the workmen came upon the corpses rolled in their peats. The bodies were in exactly the same state as when they were buried. The moss had preserved them as if they had been embalmed.

The Meddlers

How Their Plans Came to Naught.

By CLARISSA MACKIE

The veranda of a hotel in southern Florida was crowded with people, some gossiping, others playing bridge, still others, the younger element, finding amusement in watching the tennis courts.

Beyond the lawn there was a sandy beach that shelved down to the water's edge.

The tide was coming in. In another hour it would be just right for bathing.

The boom of surf sounded cool and refreshing.

On the veranda Mrs. Higginson peered inquisitively at the tennis players.

"Is that Amy Delorme, that girl in white bounding around the courts?" Betty Fendon lifted her dark eyes to Mrs. Higginson's round, heated face.

"Amy is there," she admitted in a tone of dislike, "but she is not bounding around. She dits like a moth."

"It's all a matter of opinion, my dear," rumbled the older woman in deep chest tones. "Is my daughter Adelaide there, Betty?"

Betty scanned the lawn with amused eyes.

"No," she said wickedly, "Adelaide is sitting on the beach with Professor Hicks."

Mrs. Higginson uttered a sound half-way between a groan and a sob. It ended in a hysterical titter as she got up and lumbered toward the beach.

"Poor Adelaide—and it's her last chance!" sighed Betty.

Mavis Oakes looked pained.

"What made you tell her, Betty?" she reproved.

"To pay her back for laughing at Amy."

"But you've got Adelaide into a scrape. I was hoping she would run away with the professor. He's a dear, and Adelaide is so funny and solemn and sweet! How did she ever come to have such a parent?"

Betty shrugged her shoulders and stretched her arms in a lazy yawn.

"Suppose we go and talk to Amy," she suggested. "Perhaps we can help Adelaide and the darling old professor."

Mavis followed her friend across the lawn. The players were leaving the courts, and Amy, followed closely by Dan Morland, met them under the spreading trees.

As if conjured by some magician, two other young men appeared to hover around Mavis and Betty.

"Listen," said Betty, beckoning the five about her. "I want you all to help me. It's about Adelaide."

"Adelaide Higginson, the daughter of that awful Mrs. Higginson," explained Mavis.

"Oh, you mean the bony female and the old guy with the shell rimmed spectacles?" asked Larry Whitford.

"Larry?" expostulated Mavis. "Adelaide looks very pretty sometimes, and if her mother didn't nag so I am sure she wouldn't look so worn. Listen to Betty's plan."

"My plan is this," said Betty, blushing under Harvey's ardent glances. "I know the professor is wild to marry Adelaide, and she, poor girl, would like to, only she's afraid of her mother."

"Professor Hicks is probably too bashful to propose an elopement, but given the opportunity I am sure he could persuade Adelaide."

"You see," added Mavis, "if Mrs. Higginson parts them now they may never meet again. The professor is widower, and widowers are fickle, you know."

"How interesting!" muttered Larry in the ear of his ladylove, but Mavis only pouted. "Let's talk about ourselves, Mavis."

"Humph!" scorned Mavis.

"And so," Betty was saying earnestly—"and so I thought we six might go over to Pendleton village and then telephone over for Adelaide to come at once to the rectory, and another message to the professor, and when they get there you boys might suggest to him about the elopement."

"Ye gods!" cut in Dan Morland. "The man is my friend!"

"Well!" defied the three girls. Dan grinned.

"All right," he hastened to say. "He may decline, or Adelaide may."

"They may, but they won't," retorted Betty wisely.

Every one laughed, and Betty blushed.

"What else can they do when Mrs. Higginson is obdurate? She says Adelaide must look higher than an underpaid schoolteacher, so if once they are separated Adelaide's mother will see that the romance is killed dead," cried Betty.

"An underpaid schoolteacher!" repeated Dan Morland thoughtfully. "Well, Miss Higginson might do worse than marry Bob Hicks."

"Then you will all help?" asked Mavis.

They promised unreservedly.

The next day was Wednesday, and the six meddlers were very busy. Morland's big motorcar sped away toward Pendleton village early in the morning. Dan Morland was alone, and when he returned to the hotel he was immediately surrounded by his fellow conspirators.

Directly after dinner that night Betty asked Adelaide if she would drive over to Pendleton.

"Mr. Morland and Larry and Amy and I," said Betty. "Your mother will not object, I am sure."

"She is asleep now. She has suffered from neuralgia all day," said Adelaide. "I will go, Betty, dear."

"Just slip a warm coat over that pretty white frock. I'm so glad you wore it, Adelaide!" cried Betty, dancing off.

"I wonder why," murmured Adelaide as she went upstairs.

Mrs. Higginson was sleeping soundly, and Adelaide whisked a morning cloak out of the wardrobe, twisted a white chiffon veil about her pale golden hair, and, with blue eyes shining like stars, she joined Betty and the two young men in the veranda.

Over in the corner there was a glowing point of light. Professor Hicks was smoking furiously. Perhaps he had counted on having Adelaide to himself that evening.

Near by were Mavis Oakes and her cavalier, Larry.

A half hour later came a telephone call for Larry. He returned from the booth in a very vexed frame of mind.

"I'm called over to Pendleton," he explained. "Could you take me over in your car, professor? All the hotel cars are in use."

"With pleasure!" cried Professor Hicks, tossing his cigar away. "Perhaps Miss Oakes would like to come too."

"Thanks. I should love to."

So the three drove away from the hotel, two of them trembling with excitement at the coming ordeal.

Professor Hicks, the innocent victim of their disturbance, guided the car with his usual cool precision.

"Where do you want to go?" he asked after they had entered the quiet Pendleton streets.

"The rectory," said Larry.

Professor Hicks peered at him through the darkness.

"H'm!" he coughed suspiciously, and Larry pressed Mavis' hand and whispered: "He believes we're going to be married, you and I, Mavis. I wouldn't hate the idea, would you?"

No one save Larry heard her answer but from what followed it must have been entirely satisfactory to that born youth.

In fact, the professor had to remind them twice before they realized that the car had stopped at the rectory gate.

"Will you come inside, professor?" pleaded Larry.

In the rectory's study there waited a nervous group—Betty and Amy, with a tearfully smiling Adelaide between them, while Dan Morland and Harvey talked to the puzzled looking clergyman.

Larry beckoned Morland into the hall. "Here he is, old man," Larry whispered to Dan. "Go to it!" Mavis and Larry went into the study, leaving Dan Morland alone with the professor.

Those within the room heard sounds of a dispute in the hall, murmured expostulations and then the deep rumble of Dan's persuasive voice.

The girls looked at each other in dismay.

Now that Adelaide, the dear, had consented to their plan, would it not be dreadful if the professor refused to marry Miss Higginson?

"I wish we had not meddled," whispered Betty to Mavis.

Mavis nodded and looked miserable. There was Adelaide with a sweetly tender smile on her lips, her thinness covered by the fleecy white frock, so bridled.

And there was Professor Hicks, acting so—

"Balky!" It was Larry who supplied the right word.

Just then the two men came into the room, the professor smiling, Dan Morland looking baffled.

Dr. Deems came forward, supplied, with an open prayer book in his hands.

Professor Hicks exchanged a look with Adelaide and stiffened his shoulders as he stepped forward.

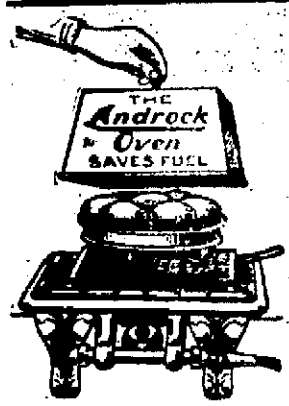

"I thank these young people for their kind interest in my—our affairs," he said gently. "but I cannot marry Adelaide. You will explain to them why I cannot."

"Oh—oh!"

MRS. WILLARD TELLS OF PARIS IN WAR

Noted Woman Philanthropist Tells
Kingston Circles of Mercy of the Need For the Work They Are Doing.

Undoubtedly no account of the present war has so stirred the people of Kingston as did the address given by Mrs. Mary Hatch Willard, for the Circles of Mercy at the chapel of the First Dutch Church on Saturday afternoon, last. The chapel was filled with men and women, desirous of hearing the direct message which Mrs. Willard was expected to bring of conditions in France and the audience was not disappointed. Mrs. Willard was introduced, for the Circles of Mercy, by Admiral Higginson, who told of her great work as the international chairman of the Surgical Dressings Committee and of her former philanthropic activity in Cuba at the time of the Spanish-American war.

Mrs. Willard is a cultured woman who has been through great experiences and was possessed of the ability to describe those experiences most vividly. She said at once that it was due to the women in the different centers all over the country, that the work she was about to describe was possible, and she considered her audience in the light of friends, not strangers, for all who helped in this humanitarian work were friends. This making of surgical dressings was the showing of one's love of humanity through their finger-tips, and as any one would do all they could to help a sick or wounded neighbor, so the imperative command was upon us to help our neighbors across the water, to whom we did not use this word thing had come. The idea of this surgical dressings work came to Mrs. Willard, while walking down Fifth avenue, like a demand from the skies. Thinking of the awful need for surgical supplies, and the lack of them, it was forced upon her that the women of America should do as their grandmothers did, go to their trunks and chests and bureau drawers, and bring forth the old linen, muslin, etc., and make necessary dressings. She presented this idea to several friends among club women and instantly it was taken up and very soon the movement was organized. The Surgical Dressings Committee has now been actively and systematically engaged in this work for about a year. During that short period she secured one and sailed for Paris on December 4. She told of the difficulty in securing passports, owing to the necessity of proving that one was going abroad for business reasons or on relief work, and not for any other purpose, as many seemed to think Americans did.

At Bordeaux there is another for Southern France, and it is expected to soon have another in operation in Italy and London. Some 4,000,000 of the dressings have been sent to these distributing bureaus, from them to be sent to the many hospitals as requisitioned. They can in this way reach the needed in 48 hours instead of from 6 weeks to 2 months, the time it took when there was no organization.

This winter Mrs. Willard decided to go over to Paris to see how the work was organized and progressing there and after proving the intention backing her request for a passport she secured one and sailed for Paris on December 4. She told of the difficulty in securing passports, owing to the necessity of proving that one was going abroad for business reasons or on relief work, and not for any other purpose, as many seemed to think Americans did. And the trip to Europe in war times was described as being very different from such a trip in times of peace. There was no gaiety of any sort, and no children were to be seen. As soon as possible, Mrs. Willard opened a work shop on shipboard, but the voyage was so rough and the travelers, for the most part, sick, that not a great deal was accomplished. But many interesting situations arose in connection with what was done. One Frenchman who had come to America to buy a large quantity of ammunition for the allies in order to kill men, did his share in making the surgical dressings to save the lives of others.

On arriving at Bordeaux she was welcomed by members of the committee there and much to her surprise was taken to visit the prefect of police, whom she later learned was the greatest man of the city, having more power than the mayor, whom she afterward met. He wished to thank her for the aid of the Americans. While in Bordeaux she was privileged to visit one of the hospitals from which the main body of the soldiers had recently been discharged. Only a few convalescents remained, but those few were all busily engaged in making exquisite head work of baskets, later to be sold for the good of the cause. The one thing that made a profound impression on Mrs. Willard was the look in the eyes of these men; an indescribable look, call it loyalty or patriotism or what, that went straight to the heart, and which having once been seen could never be forgotten. Another visit made in Bordeaux was to the school for the mutilated men of France; a school where these unfortunates might learn, at the expense of the government, to become self-supporting. Men minus right hands were learning to be stenographers with their left hands. Men with no legs were learning carpentering, book binding, etc., and all looked so eager and hopeful. The woman who taught basketry herself had no hands, but the school the men were fed and housed and lived in a boarding school, at the expense of the government.

Another visit that greatly impressed Mrs. Willard was to the building where were stored the surgical dressings for all the military hospitals. The enormous quantities of these dressings were almost beyond belief, there being literally billions of pounds of various supplies. In fact, so great was the quantity of these dressings that the speaker wondered if those made in America were, after all, not needed. On reaching Paris she learned that they were indeed needed. For the want of them was like a great enormous bottomless pit, into which any quantity of supplies could be poured by committees and even countries without ever Alling it up. At one hospital they brought in 1,000 wounded a day for dressings. Such a situation has never arisen before in the history of the world, and the only way to give even a small measure of relief is by going on working and working and working and that as fast as possible. The distributing bureaus at Paris and Bordeaux supplied 400 hospitals in a short time.

The Census Bureau estimates that 300,000 babies died in this country last year before the age of one year, and it is stated that one-half of these deaths were needless if all mothers were strong and infants were breast-fed.

Expectant mothers should strive to increase their strength with the strengthening building food in Scott's Emulsion which improves the blood, suppresses nervousness, aids the quality of milk, and feeds the very life cells.

While in Paris she had the great honor to visit the sister of the King of Belgium and to go with her to one of her hospitals. She set out for the audience with royalty, reminding herself of the need of "minding her manners," and showing that though an American she knew what was expected of her on such an occasion. Instead of formality of royalty, she was welcomed by the princess, a splendid, noble woman, rather than a princess; and her hostess's first words gave expression to the deep gratitude of the French people for all that the American people were doing for them. They were soon visiting like old friends, and an appointment was made for the hospital visit, a day or so later. And that was a memorable day. On entering the hospital with the princess it was at once obvious that it was a visit from royalty, but royalty that was believed. All of the physicians and nurses stood at attention, and where it was in any way possible for the men to get to their feet they too, stood at attention. Those in the beds were propped up and saluted. The ladies took with them little Christmas gifts for the wounded soldiers, and Mrs. Willard had also taken with her a large quantity of tiny American flags. She asked if one of the flags might accompany each gift, and was told, it might. All of the men were delighted with both the gifts and the flags and before they left the hospital every physician, nurse, patient, orderly and cook, smilingly wore an American flag. Everywhere gratitude sincere was expressed for the aid given the wounded through the American women. One lad of eighteen wore the badge of military honor, because he had carried off the field of battle a wounded officer. Another lad of nineteen who had been operated upon six times, smilingly heard the nurses tell Mrs. Willard that they were going to operate once more in the hope of saving his legs. He had been wounded in the battle of the Champagne, and smiled as he told of the goodness of the doctors and nurses. The smile was almost more than Mrs. Willard could bear, and for it she gave him a bunch of violets she wore, and she tried to smile back at him as bravely as he had smiled. Everywhere in the wards the men were busy as at the other hospitals, making baskets, or bead work. The highest tribute was paid by the speaker to the mothers of France who saw their boys go off to the war with a smile of encouragement and never a tear. Paris was quiet and very dignified, and on every hand Mrs. Willard was impressed with the quiet seriousness and poise of the reputed gay Paris folk. This sense of poise was still more impressed upon her by a private audience which she was granted with the French Minister of War. In the huge war office there was no confusion, no excitement, all was quiet and orderly. The audience with the man at the head of the war department of Paris, was held in his private residence. He was a dignified, gracious elderly man who at once expressed his profound gratitude to America for the help to this country. He was solicitous that Mrs. Willard should make known to the people of America, that the people of France are no longer gay and frivolous but strong and courageous and ready to fight to the end. When the Germans were at the gates of Paris, the American Ambassador was by and at once extended his hand to the French minister, who said he felt it to express the friendship of the United States. During the short conference, there was no ringing of telephones, no commotion, and there seemed time to do quietly whatever needed to be done, yet at the very time, the French armies were fighting but sixty miles away. Again there was that poise and confidence of winning eventually.

The last visit described was to one of the military depots, where the convalescents gather to be sent back to the trenches. It was a most dismal place, with no comforts whatever. Here, too, gifts and flags were given, also post cards of the high buildings of New York city which greatly interested the men. Mrs. Willard saw an entire body of men leave for the front, to return to active service. One woman in France, a former belle (before the war) is at the head of this committee which weekly visits these depots. In fact all work is systematically divided between groups of women in Paris, where no woman sits and holds her hands. It was hard to see how there could be women in America sitting with folded hands or idly playing cards, etc., when one heard what Mrs. Willard told of the endless need for the surgical dressings. Out of love for humanity she begged for more help in this work, not alone for our neighbors across the water, but that should the need arise, we might be prepared to do the same work for our own men. Those who heard Mrs. Willard will appreciate how inadequate any report of her address must be, and it is hoped they

DR. CHIPP STARS
IN CLAY TEAM

The rooms of Aretas Lodge were crowded on Wednesday evening to see the match games in the pinocle tournament being held between the three local Odd Fellow lodges, and all of the games were closely contested with the result that the three lodges broke about even in the contest that night. The work of Clay Lodge was greatly strengthened by the acquisition of Dr. E. D. Chipp, who is now one of the stars of that lodge's team of players. From the work of the doctor last night it is evident that if his fellow team mates
could play as well that Kosciusko Lodge would have to hustle some to maintain the lead. All three teams are still putting in much time with secret practice and team work and while Aretas Lodge still remains unchallenged in the cellar position, it
has hopes of crawling out shortly.

As a result of the games played Wednesday, the standing of the lodges follows:

WEST SAUGERTIES.

West Saugerties, March 2.—On Thursday night of last week Vir-Snyder fell on the door stone of her home and broke her right arm. Dr.
Emerick of Saugerties was called and set it.

Milton Wynne and son, Burton, and William Snyder were visitors to Saugerties on Thursday.

Mrs. Fred Cordes is entertaining
a friend from out of town.

Jess Delamater was home on
Sunday from Pompton Lake, N. J.

Earl Minkler is staying at present with the family of Russell Hill on Quevado's farm.

John Yager is home from Pompton Lake for a visit.

Stanley Osborne and wife of Saugerties were Sunday visitors in this place.

Thomas Maher was in Saugerties
on Monday.

It is rumored that some of the men working at Pompton Lake in-

John Snyder of Saugerties was
the guest of his parents on Sunday.

Mrs. Jonas Teetsel, who has been visiting her daughter in Scheneectady, has returned to her home.

George Teetsel and wife were visitors in Saugerties on Tuesday.

Dr. Holcomb of Palenville was called to the home of Frank Honi-mel, whose little daughter had croup.

Medical Society Meeting.

HUMMING BIRDS
WERE HUMMERS

Playing to a packed house, "The Humming Birds," presented by the young men of the Ushers' Club of the Roundout Presbyterian Church, scored one of the biggest hits of the year with an exceptionally clean and clever performance in the chapel of the church on Wednesday evening.
The entertainment was one of the best ever presented by the Ushers'
Club which has long been noted for
the quality of its annual affairs.

Long before the curtain was drawn every seat in the chapel had
been taken and before the show started there was standing room
only. The young men had practiced faithfully for some time past, which accounted for the smoothness with which everything was run off. A good deal of credit for the musical excellence of the program is due to the work of M. F. Wyant who had charge of the singing and to the work of Miss Elsa Hiltnerbrant as accompanist.

Clarence Rowland made an exceptionally good interlocutor while his solo "Somewhere a Voice is Calling" was one of the best hits of the evening. The fun and laughs
were looked after by John Rowland,
Frank Finley, Harold Byers and
Fred Meeker, and they were good.
Their jokes were clean and witty and their makeups were fine, especially that of John Rowland.

The solo work this year was good
with Frank Finley singing "Floating Down the Old Green River," LeRoy Hammond singing "When I Leave
the World Behind," Fred Meeker
singing "We'll Have a Jubilee," Kenneth Canfield singing "My Croonie Melody," William Dohken
singing "Tulip Time in Holland,"
John Rowland singing "You'll be
There," and Harold Byers singing
"Some Little Bug Will Get You."

Each soloist came in for a full measure of applause and their work reflected not only great credit upon themselves but also upon the club.
The chorus work was also good.

In addition to those already mentioned the others in the circle were Leslie Stevens, Alex Rodie, Charles
Reeser, Don Rodie and Adolph
Bell.

At the close of the show the boys served ice cream and cake. From all indications a goodly sum will be realized as the result of the efforts
put forth by the young men who deserve a great deal of credit for the finished performance given.

Notes of Baseball, Pugilism and Other Lines of Athletics.

Chicago, March 2.—Mordecai
Brown and Min Dooley, short stop
of the Chicago Cubs, were in town
today, ready to leave for the spring
training camp at Tampa, Fla., Sunday.

New Orleans, March 2.—Ted
Lewis is Harry Stone's master. The
New Yorker saved himself from a knockout several times by his cleveness in ducking and sidestepping.
The referee awarded Lewis the decision at the end of the 20 rounds fighting last night. Lewis had the better of 15 rounds.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 2.—Ben O'Sickey today holds a new world's skating record for half a mile. He covered the distance in 1:15 3/5, 3.5 of a second better than the old mark, at the International Indoor Skating Championship which closed
here last night. The winner of the competition was Anton O'Sickey of Cleveland, with 130 points for the three nights. Carl Fisher of Milwaukee was second with 120 points
and Ben O'Sickey third, with 80 points.

Marlin, Texas, March 2.—Manager McGraw is taking adding flight-weight at the training camp and putting his men through some stiff practice. He had them out early again today and planned to stage another mixed game this afternoon.

Daytona, Fla., March 2.—The Dodgers are put through light exercise today to get the kinks out of their arms. Manager Robinson,
however, soon plans to put his men
through harder practice.

Macon, Ga., March 2.—There are so many Yankees on the grounds here that Manager Donohue has here work keeping watch on them.
He kept his outfielders busy chasing flies in practice today and put his "Kitties" through stiff work-outs.

Waxahatchie, Texas, March 2.— Manager Hughie Jennings and Coach "Billy" Sullivan ordered the dozen or so Tiger battery men out for two sessions today. The regulars will not be here for a week yet
and Sullivan says he will have the young pitchers ready to give the old timers a work out as soon as they arrive.

Charlottesville, Va., March 2.—
Snow and cold winds kept the advance squad of the Washington Nationals down to gymnasium practice
today. The squad made up of pitchers, which arrived only last night, was content to combine efforts to the lightest of "limbering-up" exercise.

OLIVEREA.

Oliveria, March 2.—Mrs. John W.
Barnum has returned from New York where she has been on a visit for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Dsilva of Arena were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Aley for a couple of days recently.

Several people from Big Indian came to Oliveria Tuesday night to attend the revival services in the Methodist Church.

Van Wyck Knight went to Frott Valley Tuesday where he expects to stay a few weeks.

A. R. Alverson, who resides in Dutchess county, was a visitor in town Tuesday. He formerly resided in this place.

MENKE'S DAILY
SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, March 2.—Anybody
want a nice, gentle horse, guaranteed to eat sugar loaves out of your hands—guaranteed not to bite?

You do? Well, then, hunt up
Captain David Shaw, who lives in Cleveland. He's got a stallion that he wants to sell. Name is Peter Mac
—a trotter.

Price $125,001.

The harness world is aghast, so to speak, at the astounding demand
made by this 82 year old millionaire horse owner for his fleet young trotter. But that's the effect that Shaw hoped his price would have.

"Now that I've named my figure,
maybe I won't be bothered with such trifling offers as $50,000 and $60,- 000," grins Shaw.

Peter Mac a Marvel.

Peter Mac is the son of Peter the Great and Lillian R., a combination which has sent coursing through his veins some of the best blood that has been developed through decades of horse breeding. Peter Mac, as a youngster, gave promise of showing wonderful bursts of speed—and he has made good. He is six years old now, but there are many horsemen who feel that he has not yet reached the limit of his amazing speed.

Peter Mac's best mark is 2:05 1/2,
made in 1915, but those who understand the horse best, claim that he never has been pushed to his utmost. They figure he could, if forced, go in 2:02 or better.

Because of his inherited speed and gameness, as well as that which he has developed himself, Peter Mac
ranks today as one of the best stud
horse candidates in the trotting game. And because of this, breeders from all parts of the United States have approached Shaw with offers to buy the whirlwind.

Many Bids For Him.

Shaw repeatedly has declared that he would not sell his beautiful stallion. But despite this, money offers have rained in upon him. The first bid, a couple of years ago, was in the neighborhood of $20,000. That was before Peter Mac has shown such amazing bursts of speed. The next offer was $25,000. Then came $55,000, followed by $45,000 and $50,000.

A short time ago a group of horsemen who want to get possession of Peter Mac bid $60,000 for the stall-
ion. Shaw refused it, saying:

"The price is no inducement."
"Well, what is your price—what is the lowest figure you will take for Peter Mac?" asked the horsemen.

"A Bargain"—$125,001.

"Let's see," ruminated Shaw. "I consider Peter Mac the greatest stallion the harness game every produced. That means he's worth more money than any other stallion. The highest price that any stallion ever brought in sale was $125,001. That was paid for Arion by J. Malcom Forbes, wasn't it? Well, then, I'll take $125,001 for Peter Mac."

While physicians were summoned to revive the horsemen who had wanted to buy Peter Mac, his owner turned to Mike McDewitt, the famous trainer, who has handled Peter since he was what might be termed an infant.

"What do you think about my demand for $125,001?" asked Shaw.

Mike Thinks Price "Low."

"Seems a bit low, Captain, but you're the boss," answered McDewitt.
"That's right—it is a bit low, but
I don't want to drive too hard a bargain," responded Peter Mac's owner.
"Fact is, if someone comes along with that $125,001 I'll not only give them Peter Mac, but I'll throw in a bag of oats to boot. That's fair enough, isn't it Mike?"

"Quite fair, Captain: quite fair,
indeed."

Captain Shaw isn't particular as to who gets the horse, just so long as he gets $125,001 and the assurance that Peter Mac will have a good home and kindly treatment in a respectable family.

One gentle, six-year old stallion
for $125,001—and a bag of oats to boot! A bargain, boys; a rare one.

WILLOW.

Willow, March 2.—Mrs. D. M. Hasbrouck had an experience on Saturday afternoon while returning from Hudson, where she had been to attend the funeral of her sister. She came down the New York Central railroad to Rhinecliff and when she arrived there she was told there was no boat or conveyance to cross the river and that it was not safe to walk
over the ice. She went to the telegraph office and wired her husband, who was to meet her at Mt. Pleasant, that she had missed the train. She stepped out and looked over towards old Ulster, picked up her skirt and walked over to Kingston; stopped
with friends over night and arrived at Mt. Pleasant on the 7:55 a. m.
train Sunday morning, just as fat and jolly as ever. Said she never lost one pound of flesh by worrying for it was no use.

How a pipe of "Tux" does bubble over with good cheer and sunny comfort! There's something about the mellow taste of "Tux" that stirs a smoker's soul. It gets into his inside works, sweetens his disposition, and gives him that perky, cheery feeling, like a highstepper trotting down the avenue.

Tuxedo
The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

Men who never smoked a pipe before are now smoking Tuxedo, because they have found that Tuxedo is the mildest tobacco made, and that it is the one tobacco that never irritates mouth, throat or nerves.

JUDGE DANIEL C. DEASY

Supreme Bench,
San Francisco, Cal.

"I get a heap of pleasure out
of Tuxedo, the sweetest, coolest,
most delightful pipe tobacco I've ever smoked."

Joseph P. Deasy

You simply cannot get another tobacco made by the
"Tuxedo Process"—and that's the original of all processes for removing every trace of harshness and bite from the tobacco. It has been widely imitated, but never duplicated.

Try Tuxedo for a week, and you'll get acquainted with the

Announcing

SAFEST and BEST

FROM now on, the Standard Oil Company of New York's best grade of refined oil will be sold by name—SOCONY (So-CO-ny) Kerosene Oil.

It was the Standard Oil Company which was responsible for making kerosene a safe and reliable fuel in the early days of the petroleum industry.

Today SOCONY, which is the trademarked name we have given to our best grade of kerosene, represents the last word in the refining of kerosene oil.

All kerosene is not alike by any means. And the good kind is enough better to be decidedly worth asking for. If you want the most heat from your stoves and heaters, most light from your lamps and lanterns, with complete freedom from smoke and odor, order SOCONY Kerosene by name.

Dealers who carry genuine SOCONY Kerosene Oil display the SOCONY sign in their windows. Look for this sign. It is the sign of quality and the world's best kerosene.

WILSON DEMANDS A TEST VOTE

Chairman Flood Makes Assertion That He Has the Votes For An Advisory Report But He Does Not Know Them.

By Telegram to The Freeman Washington, March 2.—"I want a test vote on the McLeone resolution and believe that the country wants to know how congress stands on it," was the message given Chairman Flood of the house foreign affairs committee by President Wilson today. The president made his position clear in a conversation over the phone that was substituted for the previously arranged conference at the White House.

Flood told the president that he believed the resolution, which specifically warns American citizens not to travel on armed merchant ships, could be reported by his committee. The committee would have voted 10 to 9 adversely to report the resolution to the house for action late yesterday. Flood told the president, according to Secretary Tumulty, had the vote been forced.

Just when the foreign affairs committee will act Flood told the White House he did not know. The meeting called for 10:30 today was postponed until 3 o'clock this afternoon with a possibility that another postponement might become necessary. Although the White House claims that Flood assured the president that he had the votes to get action, individual members of the committee did not take this view. On the contrary all who could be reached said they did not believe they see any cause for immediate action. It was also reported that the president told Chairman Flood that at the present time he saw no reason why either he or Secretary Lansing should appear before the committee or congress.

COUNTRESS ELEANOR GYZICKA. COUNTESS, PARTED FROM HUSBAND, WISHES TO BE CALLED "MRS." GYZICKA.

Washington, March 2.—Countess Gyzicka, who wishes to be known in the future as Mrs. Eleanor Gyzicka, is the daughter of Mrs. Robert Patterson of Chicago and Washington. She married her foreign titled husband about twelve years ago. Eventually she separated from him and returned to America, and with her small daughter has been living with Mrs. Patterson.

Countess Gyzicka first made plain her desire to be known as plain "Mrs." when she advertised the loss of a $1,000 diamond earring the other day.

VETERANS BECOME P.O.S.A. MEMBERS

Wednesday evening more than 200 people witnessed the public administration of obligation to 32 veterans of the Civil War who were taken into the membership of Washington Camp, No. 2, Patriotic Order of the Sons of America, as honorary members. The auditorium of Mechanics' Hall on Henry street, where the ceremonies were held, was beautifully decorated with American flags and the room was filled by an audience of friends and relatives of the members of the order and of the veterans who were deeply impressed by the evening's program.

The ladies of Camp No. 30, the ladies' auxiliary of the men's camp, marched to the hall led by the little Misses Ella Port and Edna Merritt who were attired in the national colors. The veterans then entered amid the hearty applause of the audience.

E. J. Nichols, vice president of Washington Camp, presided. Chaplain Drake of the G. A. R. offered the invocation. Mayor Canfield, who was to have held the position of presiding officer sent a letter of regret in which he expressed his disappointment in not being present but law business in Albany prevented his attending the meeting.

Counselor Francis C. Merritt announced the program and presented the speakers during the evening. Miss Flora Bonesteel delighted all with the patriotic song, "America, I Love You." The first speaker was Schuyler Van Ness, district president of Hempstead, L. I., who told some very funny stories.

State Vice-president H. Willard Griffiths, also of Hempstead, L. I., previous to administering the obligation to the veterans of the G. A. R., delivered an eloquent address, faultless in its delivery and far reaching in its effect on the audience. He briefly gave the history of the organization prior to the Civil War and told how the members of the order were so filled with the ardor of patriotism that only one camp was left of all those which were in existence before the great struggle. Philadelphia was the was the home of the first camp which was organized in 1847. Formerly only youths under the age of 21 were allowed to be taken into membership and red blooded sons of the country they were. The order now boasts 250,000 members throughout the United States, scattered through every state of the union. The speaker said that in the states of Pennsylvania and New Jersey the P. O. S. A. have become so strong that they have had a major part in shaping the just laws of the states. The speaker in a forceful manner showed how the principles of the order coincided with the constitution of the country. During his address Mr. Griffiths was warmly applauded. After the obligation had been administered by the state vice-president, Brother Van Ness, in behalf of the local camp presented the speaker with a gold pocket knife upon which were inscribed Mr. Griffiths' name and the date of the occasion.

Major William Vallette, of the G. A. R., introduced Major Tanner, who presented to the camp two valuable photographs of the Old 20th Regiment. The 20th Regiment on the court house steps at Culpepper, Va., is one of the pictures while the other is a representation of a group of the officers of the regiment. Mr. Merritt said that the pictures would always be cherished by the camp and thanked the veterans for their gift.

Frederick Snyder gave a short speech in which he rendered a version of P. O. S. A., saying that it may be construed to mean "Patriotism only means the saving of America." He gave several amusing jokes of the war which were most entertaining.

Mrs. Nichols, on behalf of the Ladies' Auxiliary, presented a gavel to Washington Camp, the head of which was constructed of wood secured on Old Round Top.

The beautiful "Perfect Day" was sung by Albert Rich, accompanied by George Semon at the piano. Mr. Rich was obliged to respond to an encore.

Monroe Terwilliger, state master of forms, who was asked to be one of the speakers, sent a letter expressing his regret because of another engagement.

Although the time for closing the program was drawing near, the short period in which Rev. William Seiple of Alligerville spoke seemed but a minute, so entertaining was his talk. In his wide experience and extended travels through the world he has seen proof of the never failing patriotism of Americans and related several amusing incidents in which foreigners predicted dire results for the United States from the Spanish war. An admiral of a fleet of the navy when confronted with the question of what he would do if 25,000 Spanish landed in New York harbor calmly answered, "Why, sir, we would call out the police."

Rev. William Austin of Esopus, who led a delegation from the camp from that town, presented his view of the principles of the order. Chaplain A. T. Drake recited a patriotic poem and the meeting was brought to a close by Rev. Austin H. Haynes, who pronounced the benediction. Refreshments were served after the program was completed.

Great Runner Does Not Take Pessimistic View of Outlook.

Believes That Within Year or Two Another Crop of Fast Ones Will Come Along — Distancers Show Much Improvement.

George V. Bonhag, probably the greatest long-distance runner ever developed on the American clipper path, does not take a pessimistic view of the present condition of the distance game.

"I believe," he said, "that it is purely a question of cycles. Just at present there is a lull, where a few years ago we were turning out fast distance men by the dozen. Probably within a year or two another crop of fast ones will come along. One thing is certain, our distancers, as a class, have improved marvelously in the last decade."

"What we need now," continued Bonhag, "is a distance champion coming from the ranks. He will take to running fast and set a standard. The boys who will try to beat him will gradually work up to that standard, and when they have reached it the real champion will move along to a still faster level. I know it was that way when I was coming along at my best. The last year I was running fast there were a dozen men who could smother the performance I did when I first won the two-mile championship."

Bonhag saw Jole Ray, the sturdy Chicagoan, run for the first time at the New York Athletic club games and he was greatly struck with the national mile champion's ability. "If that boy ever learns to judge his pace properly 4 minutes and 10 seconds will be possible for him," was Bonhag's comment. Recently Ray ran his first 220 yards around 36 seconds, after which he slowed down, finishing with a terrific quarter sprint at the end.

BIG REVIVAL OF TURF GAME

Trotting Has Been Regaining Its Lost Popularity—Boom Predicted for This Season.

There promises to be a big revival of the turf game during the year. In many of the states where racing was abolished a few years ago, there is a concerted movement on foot to bring about a revival. In those states where racing is permitted the meets promise to be much classier in 1916, owing to the fact that there have been imported many of the greatest ponies that used to run on the European tracks.

The trotting game has been regaining its lost popularity during the past few years and 1916 is freighted with the promise of even greater success in the grand circuit affairs and also on the little tracks, than were the 1914 and 1915 seasons.

Percy is Harvard's Strong Man.

George A. Percy, the hockey star who holds the Harvard university strongest man honor, weighs only 160 pounds and is about five feet ten inches tall. Percy won the honor by his skill in chinning and dipping on the parallel bars. Percy chinned himself 31 times and dipped 61 times, thereby registering a new record in the college for these feats. His total points was 1,442.4.

Brown is Elected President.

Innis Brown, sporting editor of the Atlanta Journal, has been elected president of the Georgia-Alabama league, succeeding C. L. Bruner. Brown formerly a star football player at Vanderbilt university, is well informed on all matters pertaining to sport, and should make the circuit a good executive office.

OTTO H. KAHN TO HAVE BIG COUNTRY ESTATE.

New York, March 2.—Otto H. Kahn, the banker, will have one of the most imposing country estates in America at Cold Spring Harbor, L. I.

Nearly $500,000 has been spent by him in accumulating the land, which embraces several old farms, 350 acres in all. He began the operation a year and a half ago. More than 100 men are at work on the landscaping effects, and his architects have completed plans for buildings to cost $1,000,000.

At the highest point of the big tract will stand an enormous three-story house of brick and stone, 250 x 200 feet. It alone will cost $800,000. The foundation work has been under way for several months, the cost below ground reaching $150,000. Garages, keepers' lodges and a series of outbuildings will cost $200,000. A feature of the estate will be a large golf course.

How He Got Even.

"Getting even" is a hazardous undertaking. A Philadelphia lawsuit, originally involving less than $200, ended a long course through the courts with costs aggregating over $13,000. The plaintiff got the $200 sued for, but his lawyer's bill was $1,700. He is $1,500 to the bad, but he has "got even" for the other fellow had a lot more to pay.—Christian Herald.

THE WORD "JEHOVAH."

Its Curious Origin Which, by the Way, Is Comparatively Modern.

An interesting feature in "The Old Testament in the Light of Today," by William Frederic Fife, professor of Old Testament literature and Semitic languages in the Pacific Theological seminary, is the following explanation of the word "Jehovah."

"The name 'Jehovah' is of recent origin. It was quite unknown in antiquity. As G. F. Moore has shown, it occurs for the first time sporadically in the fourteenth century. The word arose in a peculiar way. Until some centuries after the Christian era the text of the Hebrew Scriptures was written with consonants only. The name of the deity therefore was written with the four consonants 'Jhwh.' As Hebrew ceased to be a spoken tongue, words written consonantly began to present difficulties to readers. This fact led to the invention of systems of vowel points, which were written under and above the consonants.

Long before the invention of vowel points it had become customary, on account of dread of the name of the deity, to read 'Adonay' (Lord) wherever 'Jhwh' occurred. To indicate this fact the vowels of 'Adonay' were connected with the consonants 'Jhwh,' the short 'A' of 'Adonay' by a regular change becoming 'e' when connected with the consonant 'J.' Persons ignorant of the purpose of the vowels began to read them with the consonants, and thus the preposterous hybrid 'Jehovah' arose."

MARK TWAIN'S PILOT DAYS.

A Taste For Fine Clothes and a Plunge Into Languages.

Old pilots of that day remembered Samuel Clemens as a slender, fine looking man, well dressed, even dandified, generally wearing blue serge, with fancy shirts, white duck trousers and patent leather shoes. A pilot could do that, for his surroundings were speckless.

The pilots regarded him as a great reader—a student of history, travels and the sciences. In the association rooms they often saw him poring over serious books.

He began the study of French one day in New Orleans when he discovered a school of languages where French, German and Italian were taught, one in each of three rooms. The price was $25 for one language or three for $75. The student was provided with a set of conversation cards for each and was supposed to walk from one apartment to another, changing his nationality at each threshold.

The young pilot, with his usual enthusiasm, invested in all three languages, but after a few round trips decided that French would do. He did not return to the school, but kept the cards and added textbooks. He studied faithfully when off watch and in port, and his old river notebook, still preserved, contains a number of advanced exercises neatly written out—Albert Bigelow Paine in St. Nicholas.

England's Greatest Mine Fire.

The most serious colliery fire ever known in Britain was undoubtedly that which broke out in the Tawd valley mine, near Preston, in 1872. Thousands of pounds were spent in trying to get the flames under control, but they overcame everything and consumed some millions of tons of coal. A wall ten feet in thickness was built round the affected parts, but the heat cracked the masonry and brought it down as fast as it was rebuilt. However, in 1897 the river Tawd overflowed its banks and went pouring down into the mine. No fire could withstand such an immense volume of water hurled upon it, and although the flames extended for 500 yards, they were quenched after having razed for a quarter of a century.—London Tit-Bits.

Preservative Peat.

Peat possesses wonderful antiseptic and preservative qualities owing to the presence of tannin, iron and other substances in it. Here is an instance: At the time of the excavations, in 1685, three men were shot at a place called Crossedobon, on the moor above Old Camock, in Scotland. In 1855, when a monument was being erected to their memory, the workmen came upon the corpses rolled in their peats. The bodies were in exactly the same state as when they were buried. The peat had preserved them as if they had been embalmed.

The Meddlers

How Their Plans Came to Naught.

By CLARISSA MACKIE

The veranda of a hotel in southern Florida was crowded with people, some gossiping, others playing bridge, still others, the younger element, finding amusement in watching the tennis courts.

Beyond the lawn there was a sandy beach that shelved down to the water's edge.

The tide was coming in. In another hour it would be just right for bathing.

The boom of surf sounded cool and refreshing.

On the veranda Mrs. Higginson peered inquisitively at the tennis players.

"Is that Amy Delarme, that girl in white bouncing around the courts?" Betty Fendoun lifted her dark eyes to Mrs. Higginson's round, heated face.

"Amy is there," she admitted in a tone of dislike, "but she is not bouncing around. She dits like a—moult."

Betty scanned the lawn with amused eyes.

"No," she said wickedly. "Adelaide is sitting on the beach with Professor Hicks."

Mrs. Higginson uttered a sound halfway between a groan and a sob. It ended in a hysterical litter as she got up and lumbered toward the beach.

"Poor Adelaide—and it's her last chance!" sighed Betty.

Mavis Oakes looked pained.

"What made you tell on her, Betty?" she reproved.

"To pay her back for laughing at Amy."

"But you've got Adelaide into a scrape. I was hoping she would run away with the professor. He's a dear, and Adelaide is so funny and solemn and sweet! How did she ever come to have such a parent?"

Betty shrugged her shoulders and stretched her arms in a lazy yawn.

"Suppose we go and talk to Amy," she suggested. "Perhaps we can help Adelaide and the darling old professor."

Mavis followed her friend across the lawn. The players were leaving the courts, and Amy, followed closely by Dan Morland, met them under the spreading trees.

As if conjured by some magician, two other young men appeared to hover around Mavis and Betty.

"Listen," said Betty, beckoning the five about her. "I want you all to help me."

"Adelaide Higginson, the daughter of that awful Mrs. Higginson," explained Mavis.

"Oh, you mean the bony female and the old guy with the shell rimmed spectacles?" asked Larry Whitford.

"Larry!" expostulated Mavis. "Adelaide looks very pretty sometimes, and if her mother didn't nag so I am sure she wouldn't look so worn. Listen to Betty's plan."

"My plan is this," said Betty, blushing under Harry's ardent glances. "I know the professor is wild to marry Adelaide, and she, poor girl, would like to, only she's afraid of her mother."

"Professor Hicks is probably too bashful to propose an elopement, but given the opportunity I am sure he could persuade Adelaide."

"You see," added Mavis. "If Mrs. Higginson parts them now they may never meet again. The professor is widower, and widowers are fickle, you know."

"How interesting!" muttered Larry in the ear of his ladylove, but Mavis only pouted. "Let's talk about ourselves, Mavis."

"Humph!" scorned Mavis.

"And so," Betty was saying earnestly—"and so I thought we might go over to Pendleton village and then telephone over for Adelaide to come at once to the rectory, and another message to the professor, and when they get there you boys might suggest to him about the elopement."

"Ye gods," cut in Dan Morland. "The man is my friend!"

"Well!" defied the three girls. Dan grinned.

"All right," he hastened to say. "He may decline, or Adelaide may."

The six conspirators crowded around Adelaide and her husband.

Dr. Deems was beaming upon them all and offering to go and break the news to Mrs. Higginson.

"I am sure she will listen to reason," he said as he prepared to leave.

And he never told them that it was only after he had explained to Adelaide's mother that Professor Hicks was worth half a million in his own right that Mrs. Higginson gracefully gave in and blessed her children.

As for the six meddlers, in the course of time each couple was married, and Dr. Deems always officiated at the ceremony.

pretty white frock. I'm so glad you wore it, Adelaide!" cried Betty, dancing off.

"I wonder why," murmured Adelaide as she went upstairs.

Mrs. Higginson was sleeping soundly, and Adelaide whistled a morning dook out of the wardrobe, twisted a white chiffon veil about her pale golden hair, and, with blue eyes shining like stars, she joined Betty and the two young men in the veranda.

Over in the corner there was a glowing point of light. Professor Hicks was smoking furiously. Perhaps he had counted on having Adelaide to himself that evening.

Near by were Mavis Oakes and her cavalier, Larry.

A half hour later came a telephone call for Larry. He returned from the booth in a very vexed frame of mind.

"I'm called over to Pendleton," he explained. "Could you take me over in your car, professor? All the hotel cars are in use."

"With pleasure," cried Professor Hicks, tossing his cigar away. "Perhaps Miss Oakes would like to come too."

"Thanks. I should love to."

So the three drove away from the hotel, two of them trembling with excitement at the coming ordeal.

Professor Hicks, the innocent victim of their disturbance, guided the car with his usual cool precision.

"Where do you want to go?" he asked after they had entered the quiet Pendleton streets.

"The rectory," said Larry.

Professor Hicks peered at him through the darkness.

"H'm," he coughed suspiciously, and Larry pressed Mavis' hand and whispered: "He believes we're going to be married, you and I, Mavis. I wouldn't hate the idea, would you?"

No one save Larry heard her answer but from what followed it must have been entirely satisfactory to that lone youth.

In fact, the professor had to remind them twice before they realized that the car had stopped at the rectory gate.

"Will you come inside, professor?" pleaded Larry.

In the rectory's study there waited a nervous group—Betty and Amy, with a tearfully smiling Adelaide between them, while Dan Morland and Harvey talked to the puzzled looking clergyman.

Larry beckoned Morland into the hall. "Here he is, old man," Larry whispered to Dan. "Go to it!" Mavis and Larry went into the study, leaving Dan Morland alone with the professor.

Those within the room heard sounds of a dispute in the hall, murmured expostulations and then the deep rumble of Dan's persuasive voice.

The girls looked at each other in dismay.

Now that Adelaide, the dear, had consented to their plan, would it not be dreadful if the professor refused to marry Miss Higginson?

"I wish we had not meddled," whispered Betty to Mavis.

Mavis nodded and looked miserable. There was Adelaide with a sweetly tender smile on her lips, her thinness covered by the deely white frock, so white.

And there was Professor Hicks, acting so—

"Balky!" It was Larry who supplied the right word.

Just then the two men came into the room, the professor smiling, Dan Morland looking baffled.

Dr. Deems came forward, surprised, with an open prayer book in his hands.

Professor Hicks exchanged a look with Adelaide and stiffened his shoulders as he stepped forward.

"Oh—oh!" The exclamation, scarcely breathed, ran from lip to lip. How the professor found a place beside Adelaide.

They all looked expectantly at the minister.

"Please tell them why I cannot ask you to marry us, Dr. Deems," repeated Professor Hicks.

Dr. Deems closed the prayer book upon his finger and smiled benignly around the group.

"Because," he said impressively—"because I married them two weeks ago!" Consternation fell upon the six meddlers.

Adelaide's tremulous voice broke the silence:

"I am so glad you all know. You were so dear to plan it for us!"

A flood of congratulations checked her speech.

The six conspirators crowded around Adelaide and her husband.

Dr. Deems was beaming upon them all and offering to go and break the news to Mrs. Higginson.

"I am sure she will listen to reason," he said as he prepared to leave.

Origin of Pajamas.

Pajamas are garments which Europeans adopted from the Mohammedans of India. The name means simply let garments, and earlier generations in India knew them as "long drawers" and "moorl breeches." It is only of recent years that they have sprung into almost universal use in England in place of night-shirts which some one characterized as equivalent to adopting trousers in place of frock coats—but references to the garments have been traced as early as 1828.

"Pejamas," "pizammahs" and "pizammahs" were some of former variants in use, and Thackeray wrote of them as "pizammahs." The standard spelling is only a recent agreement.

DR. CHIPP STARS
IN CLAY TEAM

The rooms of Aretas Lodge were crowded on Wednesday evening to see the match games in the pinocle
tournament being held between the three local Odd Fellow lodges, and
all of the games were closely contested with the result that the three lodges broke about even in the contest that night. The work of Clay Lodge was greatly strengthened by
the acquisition of Dr. E. D. Chipp,
who is now one of the stars of that lodge's team of players. From the work of the doctor last night it is evident that if his fellow team mates
could play as well that Kosciusko Lodge would have to hustle some to maintain the lead. All three teams
are still putting in much time with secret practice and team work and
while Aretas Lodge still remains unchallenged in the cellar position, it
has hopes of crawling out shortly.

As a result of the games played Wednesday, the standing of the
lodges follows:

	Won	Lost
Kosciusko Lodge	25	14
C. S. Clay Lodge	18	21
Aretas Lodge	17	25

WEST SAUGERTIES.

West Saugerties, March 2.—On Thursday night of last week Vira Snyder fell on the door stone of her home and broke her right arm. Dr.
Bierick of Saugerties was called and set it.

Milton Wynne and son, Burton, and William Snyder were visitors to Saugerties on Thursday.

Mrs. Fred Cordes is entertaining
a friend from out of town.

Jess Delamater was home on
Sunday from Pompton Lake, N. J.

Earl Minkler is staying at Present with the family of Russell Hill
on Quexado's farm.

John Yager is home from Pom-
pton Lake for a visit.

Stanley Osborne and wife of Saugerties were Sunday visitors in
this place.

Thomas Maher was in Saugerties
on Monday.

It is rumored that some of the men working at Pompton Lake intend taking their families there.

John Snyder of Saugerties was
the guest of his parents on Sunday.

Mrs. Jonas Teetsel, who has been visiting her daughter in Schenectady, has returned to her home.

George Teetsel and wife were visitors in Saugerties on Tuesday.

Dr. Holcomb of Palenville was called to the home of Frank Honniet, whose little daughter had croup.

HUMMING BIRDS

Playing to a packed house, "The Humming Birds," presented by the young men of the Ushers' Club of the Rondout Presbyterian Church, scored one of the biggest hits of the year with an exceptionally clean and clever performance in the chapel of the church on Wednesday evening.
The entertainment was one of the best ever presented by the Ushers'
Club which has long been noted for
the quality of its annual affairs.

Long before the curtain was drawn every seat in the chapel had
been taken and before the show
started there was standing room
only. The young men had practiced faithfully for some time past, which accounted for the smoothness with which everything was run off. A good deal of credit for the musical excellence of the program is due to the work of M. F. Wygant who had charge of the singing and to the work of Miss Elsa Hiltnerbrant as accompanist.

Clarence Rowland made an exceptionally good interlocutor while his solo "Somewhere a Voice is Calling" was one of the best hits of the evening. The fun and laughs
were looked after by John Rowland,
Frank Finley, Harold Byers and
Fred Meeker, and they were good.
Their jokes were clean and witty and
their makeups were fine, especially
that of John Rowland.

The solo work this year was good
with Frank Finley singing "Floating
Down the Old Green River," LeRoy Hammond singing "When I Leave
the World Behind," Fred Meeker
singing "We'll Have a Jubilee,"
Kenneth Canfield singing "My Croonie Melody," William Dohken
singing "Tulip Time in Holland,"
John Rowland singing "You'll be
There," and Harold Byers singing
"Some Little Bug Will Get You."

Each soloist came in for a full
measure of applause and their work
reflected not only great credit upon themselves but also upon the club.

The chorus work was also good.
In addition to those already mentioned the others in the circle were
Leslie Stevens, Alex Rodie, Charles
Reveres, Don Rodie and Adolph
Bell.

At the close of the show the boys served ice cream and cake. From all indications a goodly sum will be realized as the result of the efforts
put forth by the young men who deserve a great deal of credit for the finished performance given.

Chicago, March 2.—Mordecai
Brown and Min Dooley, short stop
of the Chicago Cubs, were in town
today, ready to leave for the spring
training camp at Tampa Fla.
Sunday.

New Orleans, March 2.—Ted
Lewis is Harry Stone's master. The
New Yorker saved himself from a knockout several times by his cleverness in ducking and sidestepping.
The referee awarded Lewis the decision at the end of the 20 rounds
fighting last night. Lewis had the better of 15 rounds.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 2.—Ben O'Sickey today holds a new world's skating record for half a mile. He covered the distance in 1:15 3/5.
3-5 of a second better than the old
mark. At the International Indoor Skating Championship which closed
here last night. The winner of the competition was Anton O'Sickey of Cleveland, with 130 points for the three nights. Carl Fisher of Milwaukee was second with 120 points
and Ben O'Sickey third, with 80
points.

Martin, Texas, March 2.—Manager McGraw is taking adding lightweight at the training camp and
putting his men through some stiff practice. He had them out early again today and planned to stage
another mixed game this afternoon.

Daytonia, Fla., March 2.—The Dodgers are put through light exercise today to get the kinks out of their arms. Manager Robinson,
however, soon plans to put his men
through harder practice.

Macon, Ga., March 2.—There are so many Yankees on the grounds here that Manager Donovan has hard work keeping watch on them.
He kept his outfielders busy chasing flies in practice today and put out "kitties" through stiff work-outs.

Waxahachie, Texas, March 2.— Manager Hugh Jennings and Coach "Billy" Sullivan ordered the dozen or so Tiger battery men out
for two sessions today. The regulars will not be here for a week yet
and Sullivan says he will have the young pitchers ready to give the old timers a work out as soon as they arrive.

Charlottesville, Va., March 2.—
Snow and cold winds kept the advance squad of the Washington Nationals down to gymnasium practice
today. The squad made up of pitchers, which arrived only last night, was content to continue efforts to the lightest of "limbering-up" exercise.

OLIVERA.

MENKE'S DAILY

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, March 2.—Anybody
want a nice, gentle horse, guaranteed to eat sugar loaves out of your hands—guaranteed not to bite?
You do? Well, then, hunt up
Captain David Shaw, who lives in Cleveland. He's got a stallion that he wants to sell. Name is Peter Mac
—a trotter.

Price $125,001.

The harness world is aghast, so to speak, at the astounding demand
made by this 82 year old millionaire horse owner for his fleet young
trotter. But that's the effect that Shaw hoped his price would have.

"Now that I've named my figure,
maybe I won't be bothered with such trifling offers as $50,000 and $60,- 000," grins Shaw.

Peter Mac a Marvel.

Peter Mac is the son of Peter the Great and Lillian R., a combination
which has sent coursing through his veins some of the best blood that
has been developed through decades
of horse breeding. Peter Mac, as a youngster, gave promise of showing wonderful bursts of speed—and he has made good. He is six years old
now, but there are many horsemen
who feel that he has not yet reached the limit of his amazing speed.

Peter Mac's best mark is 2:05 1/2,
made in 1915, but those who understand the horse best, claim that he never has been pushed to his utmost. They figure he could, if forced, go in 2:02 or better.

Because of his inherited speed and gameness, as well as that which he has developed himself, Peter Mac
ranks today as one of the best stud
horse candidates in the trotting
game. And because of this, breeders from all parts of the United States have approached Shaw with offers to buy the whirlwind.

Many Bids For Him.

Shaw repeatedly has declared that he would not sell his beautiful stall-
ion. But despite this, money offers have rained in upon him. The first bid, a couple of years ago, was in the neighborhood of $20,000. That was before Peter Mac has shown
such amazing bursts of speed. The next offer was $25,000. Then came $55,000, followed by $45,000 and $50,000.

A short time ago a group of horsemen who want to get possession of Peter Mac bid $100,000 for the stall-
ion. Shaw refused it, saying:

"The price is no inducement."
"Well, what is your price—what
is the lowest figure you will take for Peter Mac?" asked the horsemen.

"A Bargain—$125,001."

"Let's see," ruminated Shaw. "I consider Peter Mac the greatest stallion the harness game every produced. That means he's worth more money than any other stallion. The highest price that any stallion ever
brought in sale was $125,001. That was paid for Arion by J. Malcolm Porbes, wasn't it? Well, then, I'll take $125,001 for Peter Mac."

While physicians were summoned to revive the horsemen who had wanted to buy Peter Mac, his owner
turned to Mike McDewitt, the famous trainer, who has handled Peter since he was what might be termed an infant.

"What do you think about my demand for $125,001?" asked Shaw.

Mike Thinks Price "Low."

"Seems a bit low, Captain, but
you're the boss," answered McDewitt.
"That's right—it is a bit low, but
I don't want to drive too hard a bargain," responded Peter Mac's owner.
"Fact is, if someone comes along
with that $125,001 I'll not only give them Peter Mac, but I'll throw in a bag of oats to boot. That's fair enough, isn't it Mike?"

"Quite fair, Captain; quite fair,
indeed."

Captain Shaw isn't particular as
to who gets the horse, just so long
as he gets $125,001 and the assurance that Peter Mac will have a good
home and kindly treatment in a respectable family.

One gentle, six-year old stallion
for $125,001—and a bag of oats to boot! A bargain, boys; a rare one.

WILLOW.

Willow, March 2.—Mrs. D. M. Hasbrouck had an experience on Saturday afternoon while returning from Hudson, where she had been to attend the funeral of her sister. She came down on the New York Central railroad to Rhinecliff and when she arrived there she was told there was
no boat or conveyance to cross the river and that it was not safe to walk
over the ice. She went to the telegraph office and wired her husband,
who was to meet her at Mt. Pleasant,
that she had missed the train. She stepped out and looked over towards
old Ulster, picked up her skirt and
walked over to Kingston; stopped
with friends over night and arrived
at Mt. Pleasant on the 7:55 a. m.
train Sunday morning, just as fat and jolly as ever. Said she never lost one pound of flesh by worrying for it
was no use.

How a pipe of "Tux" does bubble over with good cheer and sunny comfort! There's something about the mellow taste of "Tux"
that stirs a smoker's soul. It gets into his inside works, sweetens his disposition, and gives him that perky, cheery feeling, like a highstepper trotting down the avenue.

Tuxedo
The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

Men who never smoked a pipe before are now smoking Tuxedo, because they have found that Tuxedo is the mildest tobacco made, and that it is the one tobacco that never irritates mouth, throat or nerves.

You simply cannot get another tobacco made by the
"Tuxedo Process"—and that's the original of all processes for removing every trace of harshness and bite from the tobacco. It has been widely imitated, but never duplicated.

Try Tuxedo for a week, and
you'll get acquainted with the sweetest, mildest, mellowest smoke in the world.

"I get a heap of pleasure out
of Tuxedo, the sweetest, coolest,
most delightful pipe tobacco I've
ever smoked."

John Deasy, Captain.
